NAZIS RENEW ATTACK ON WARSAW DEFENSES

SENATE CHIEFS APPROVE WHITE HOUSE POLICY

"Hands Off" Attitude In Congress Neutrality Fight Favored

STATE OFFICIALS ARE SO ADVISED

See Better Chance of Obtaining Enactment of Legislation

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26. — Six cabinet officers were summoned to the White House today for a conference on neutrality measures and domestic problems born of the European war.

President Roosevelt, it was reported, desired to review with these six—the attorney general, the acting navy secretary and the secretaries of state, war, agriculture and labor — the progress made on "preparatory" work assigned their departments in the interest of keeping the United States at peace.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26—Senate leaders were reported authoritatively today to have advised the White House and the state department to continue their "hands-off" attitude in the congressional fight over the administration neutrality program.

Those in charge of the legislation, it was learned, have argued they would have a better chance of obtaining its enactment if there was no attempt by the executive branch to influence congress.

This is in line with the position taken by President Roosevelt, who said last Thursday that Congress should make its own choice of the method of safeguarding American neutrality.

Back Up President

Some administration officials were said to have volunteered their services as speakers in behalf of the President's recommendations for wiping out the present arms embargo and setting up new restrictions over American commerce and shipping.

Several Democrats who have opposed the administration on domestic issues — including Senator George (D-Ga)—are supporting the new measure, however, and leaders were said to feel that some of this support might be alienated if administration officials assume an active role in the forthcoming senate battle.

The senate foreign relations committee agreed yesterday to delay consideration of the neutrality measure until Thursday in order to give opposition senators time to study it. The committee is expected to approve the bill late this week and senate debate probably will start Monday or Tuesday.

It was learned that Democratic Leader Barkley and Republican Leader McNary have entered a "gentleman's agreement" under which the opposition would engage in no filibustering tactics and the administration forces would not utilize their power to force lengthy sessions or bring other "pressure" on the senate.

DROUTH HITS OHIO FARMERS

Serious Losses Reported By State Agriculture Director

(By Associated Press)

Ohio farmers faced serious losses today as a weeks-old, crop-sapping drouth continued throughout most of the state.

State Director of Agriculture John T. Brown said fruit growers perhaps would suffer most, since fruit has ripened too fast for harvest and tons of apples and peaches have fallen to the ground to rot.

The soy beans harvest was the earliest he ever saw, Brown said, adding the crop would be reduced about one-third because heat and lack of moisture kept beans from attaining regular size.

Corn growers also have been hard hit. The early crop matured too quickly, with the fodder ripening before the ears—an extremely abnormal condition. Late corn was reported to be "chaffy," with dry grains not filling out.

Potatoes were expected to show the effect of the heat and lack of rainfall, too, although no estimates were given on the percentage of loss.

Besides the damage to crops, the drouth has seared pastures. Farmers now are feeding livestock forages that should be stored. Ordinarily, Brown said, livestock would have two more months of pasture feeding. A considerable decrease in forage surplus was anticipated.

Fire joined the drouth in wrecking pastures. Farmers throughout the state reported whole tinder-dry fields destroyed by flames.

Although the entire state has been hard hit, the southern and central regions were reported suffering the greatest loss, Brown stated.

Legion Stages Parade Event

Legionnaires' Thoughts Divided As They Trod Chicago Streets

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—The American Legion marched to a rendezvous with youth today.

Its men of the American expeditionary forces, some of them scarcely realizing how time has touched them, trod Michigan avenue resolutely, their thoughts divided between memories of 21 years ago and the European climateric which has strengthened their will to keep the nation at peace.

In seeking to recapture their own youth, the Legionnaires were moved by poignant and tingling recollections of the battle of the Argonne, begun Sept. 26, 1918.

Thus, among the former soldiers on parade and among the spectators who themselves know something about war there was experienced a sharp illusion that beside the blue-uniformed Legionnaires now in their mature years traveled a phantom army.

A Different Parade

Not since the World war has there been exactly this kind of Legion parade. There is fun abounding. The causes that set men at grips with one another seem remote. The music and color and throb of at least 87,000 marchers and hundreds of floats, engines, automobiles and other conveyances partake of the exuberance of a people free from serious worry.

But amidst the immensity, pageantry and enthusiasm of the parade—outwardly not brooking for a moment any lugbrious stuff — the observer seemed to hear accoutrements rattling, feel helmet and rifle rub gritty shoulders raw, hear hobnails sucked up from mud, smell gas and hasten to clap on mask. Before the eyes of thousands of beholders packed along the line of march shifted all the ectoplasm of the veterans' years at the front.

The parade, as has been every official act of the 21st national convention, is in part at least a medium for getting across to the new generation the Legion's expressed conviction that war doesn't pay. Placards and banners scattered through downtown Chicago accentuate neutrality inspired by the Legion's traditional advocacy of peace.

All business and speechmaking of the convention was suspended for the day except for a late meeting of the committee on foreign relations to which is committed the task of drafting a report on the neutrality question.

Canton Prisoner Shot In Attempt To Flee Deputy

CANTON, Sept. 26.—Hanley Abel, 34, was shot and wounded in the right leg by Deputy W. J. Hine this morning when he sought to escape within a few minutes after he had been sentenced to serve from one to 15 years in the state penitentiary. The shot broke his leg.

Abel, indicted last June on a charge of breaking and entering a school building, had pleaded guilty to the charge on July 14. He asked probation, which was denied when he appeared before Judge J. L. Floyd in common pleas court.

Deputy Hine escorted Abel to an automobile at the rear of the courthouse and as the two reached the car Abel broke away. Hine, firing from the hip, brought him down with one shot.

Gets Jail Stretch In Chicken Thefts

LISBON, Sept. 26—Conrad Whitacre, 23, of Fairfield township, was fined $50 and sentenced to 30 days in jail when he pleaded guilty to a charge of petty larceny before Justice of the Peace M. K. Zimerman Monday.

Whitacre and a 17-year-old boy were arrested Sunday afternoon by Deputies O. W. Stacey and M. K. Duty, who caught the pair with a coop of stolen chickens. The other youth was turned over to juvenile authorities.

WOMAN, THREE MEN ARRESTED

Akron Detective Identifies Virgina Brawdy, Velma West Pal

(By Associated Press)

VAN WERT, Sept. 26—A woman arrested here with two men wanted in Virginia on robbery charges was identified today by Detective V. J. Smith of Akron as Virginia Brawdy, who escaped June 19 with three other women from the Ohio reformatory for women at Marysville.

In Columbus, Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood, advised of the capture by Reformatory Supt. Marguerite Reilley, instructed Mrs. Reilley to release the woman to Virginia authorities if she is wanted by them. Sherwood said he was informed the fugitive is wanted in Winchester, Va. for robbery.

Gives Canton Address

Arrested by Van Wert police yesterday, Miss Brawdy gave the name of Virginia Miller and said she lived in Canton. The Akron detective recognized her as Virginia Brawdy when he and Depty Inspector Robert Van Steenberg, Akron came here to check on the possibility the woman and her two companions were wanted in Akron.

Using a key obtained in a mysterious fashion, Miss Brawdy fled

Red Cross Forces Rallying To Bind Humanity's Wounds

Salem Chapter Advised to Prepare Itself for Service In Behalf of War Sufferers

Salem chapter, American Red Cross, has been advised by national headquarters to prepare itself for service in furnishing surgical dressings, garments and similar supplies for war sufferers.

It is not planned to start production of garments and hospital supplies in Salem immediately, but the Salem chapter will be so organized that work can be started as soon as the demand is known.

No solicitation of funds is being made at this time, but Salem chapter will receive contributions for relief in connection with the European conflict.

Contributors may designate the country for the relief of which they wish to have their contributions utilized, with the understanding that such funds will be applied by the American Red Cross society in the country designated.

The following committee has been appointed by Chairman E. S. Dawson to make plans for the work and to determine what should be done by Salem chapter: E. S. Kerr, chairman; Mrs. W. H. Dunn, Mrs. F. J. Emeny, F. W. McKee and Ralph Hawley.

This committee will be in constant touch with Red Cross national headquarters.

The national Red Cross already has cooperated with the government in assisting American citizens returning from abroad.

Thus far only the Polish Red Cross society has asked for medical and hospital supplies to care for helpless men, women and children. In response to this request propriated $50,000 to secure a propriated 350,000 to secure a quantity of hospital tents, blankets and drugs for shipment to Poland.

In urging local chapters to enter upon a preliminary program for the production of war supplies, Norman H. Davis, national chairman said:

"In these tragic days I have faith that the moral forces of the people of America will rally to support the Red Cross in carrying out its traditions of binding the wounds of suffering humanity whether caused by disaster or by the ravages of war."

BRITAIN ARMS ITS SHIPS TO REPULSE SUBS

Churchill Claims Seizure of German Goods Compensates Losses

CONVOY SYSTEM IS IN OPERATION

Report U-Boats Being Attacked In Vigorous Campaign

By J. C. STARK.

LONDON, Sept. 26.—The British war cabinet announced to parliament today the defensive arming of many merchant ships and the seizure of more German goods since the war started than Great Britain has lost in submarine attacks.

Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, made this disclosure in the house of commons after Prime Minister Chamberlain, in his fourth war report, had announced complete agreement with France on "procedure for coordinating and perfecting" munitions and supplies.

Convoy System Operates

Churchill, after saying the British convoy system now was in full operation and merchant ships all over the world were being armed to fight off submarines and airplanes, declared:

"So far as the submarine is concerned, the British empire and all its friends in every nation of the globe will be able to develop their immeasurable latent forces, and their man power can be concentrated in ever growing intensity on the task we have in hand, in which task we have only to persevere to conquer."

He was cheered loudly on this statement.

"In a short time the immense mercantile marine of the British empire will be armed," he said, adding that German submarines were being attacked with the "utmost vigor."

Prime Minister Chamberlain declared vital supplies "in ever increasing volume," were being made available to Britain by the dominions.

Asserting that Britain had "seized and converted to our own use 67,000 tons more of German merchandise than have been sunk in our own ships," Churchill said:

"We have got more supplies in our country this afternoon than we should have had if no war had been declared and if no U-boat had gone into action."

Chamberlain told the house that Germany already possessed stocks of raw materials and foodstuffs she has to import, so that quick results from the economic blockade should not be expected.

But he said if Britain could stop the flow of raw materials Germany needs for "the functions of her war industries, the result will be to effectively cripple her power to prolong hostilities."

Former Salem Man Found Dead Today

Arthur D. Coy, 60, of Girard, formerly of Salem, was found dead at 8:30 a. m. today in a ditch along a road in Newton Falls.

Coroner John C. Henshaw of Trumbull county ruled that Coy had died a natural death, apparently after suffering a heart attack while walking along the road. He had been dead about 12 hours when found, the coroner said.

Police here were notified but were unable to locate any relatives. A card found in his pocket gave his address as 227 N. Howard ave., Salem.

The family now living at this address informed Salem police that Mr. Coy had once lived in Salem, but had moved to Girard more than a year ago.

Collection of Taxes Will Begin Oct. 15

LISBON, Sept. 26.—Collection of property tax will begin Oct. 15 and close Nov. 1, County Treasurer Olen Dawson announced today.

Statements covering concluding assessments will be mailed to all taxpayers prior to the opening of collections, he said.

Dawson pointed out that, although the personal property taxes usually are collected in September, the collections have been delayed this year because inter-county returns, compiled by the state tax commission, have been held up.

Von Ribbentrop Goes To Moscow

MOSCOW, Sept. 26—Tass, the official Russian news agency announced today that Joachim Von Ribbentrop, German foreign minister, would arrive in Moscow tomorrow "to discuss with the government of the Soviet Union problems connected with developments in Poland."

The agency said Von Ribbentrop was coming on the invitation of the Russian government.

Toledo Is Without Funds For Relief

TOLEDO, Sept. 26.—This worried industrial city of 290,718 today sought some method of raising funds to resume relief shut off since Sept. 15.

Officials hope to get merchants to take deficiency judgments against the city in an attempt to erase $750,000 in back bills that led to the halting of all relief orders. The law provides deficiency judgments as a lien on the revenues of the ensuing year.

More than 200 persons, many of them relief clients, jammed city hall corridors as councilmen studied the deficiency proposal.

STUDY REPORTS ON CONTRABAND

U. S. Not Expected To Protest British, German Lists

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26—After a study of the contraband lists issued by Great Britain and Germany, two conclusions have been reached in official quarters here:

1. The lists look different but are essentially the same.

2. They correspond very closely to the American contraband list of 1917, and consequently no protest against them will be made by the United States government.

An American ship which carries contraband to a belligerent can be stopped, searched and her cargo seized. There are many precedents under international law which establish that the ship can be seized, too.

If the ship carrying contraband to a belligerent is stopped by a submarine which cannot escort her into port or place a prize crew aboard her, she may be sunk after careful provisions are taken for the safety of her crew and passengers.

That leaves little leeway for diplomatic action on the part of this government.

The German list as 13 categories of contraband articles compared to the British five, but the latter include everything contained in the German divisions.

In general, virtually any article could be included under the various categories. The first embraces arms, the second means of transtation, the third means of communication, the fourth money, and the fifth food and clothing. All ingredients or materials or machinery used in their manufacture are included.

There is one important difference apparent between the British and the German lists of today and those with which the World war ended. Food stuffs and clothing are made conditional contraband, as opposed to absolute contraband.

Under international law ships may carry conditional contraband even to belligerents, unless it is proved that the materials are destined for the belligerents' armed forces or government agencies.

REPORT FIGHTING ON WESTERN FRONT

Heavy Losses Reported For Both German and French Armies

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN, Sept. 26.—An army communique indicated today German forces had started to storm the defenses of Warsaw after all efforts had failed to convince the Polish commander of the "gruesomeness and uselessness of resistance."

The Polish capital has been besieged since Sept. 8. The final drive to crush Warsaw's resistance was launched yesterday.

In a surprise attack, the communique said the Germans captured Mokotowski fortress and then pushed into the Warsaw suburb of Mokotow. Mokotowski is one of four forts guarding Warsaw from the south and west. The others are forts Bema, Wolski and Szczesliwicki.

Today's communique said the army in Poland was moving toward the German-Soviet Russian demarcation line, and that in brief fights with the Poles along the lower course of the San river 2,000 prisoners were taken by an armored division.

Planes Shot Down

Artillery fire and minor scouting activities were reported on the western front along with the shooting down of six French planes and two captive balloons. This boosted the air toll in the west, according to German figures, to 32 planes and six balloons.

A new gesture of friendliness toward France by the Nazi government was expected in informed quarters.

Rumors, completely without official verification, were to the effect that Germany might release French prisoners taken to date on the western front.

The same rumors had it that Germany believed the soldiers would be good peace propagandists, if they could be convinced the reich feels no animosity toward France.

Meanwhile French and German artillery exchanged fire south of Dweibruecken and across the Rhine frontier.

Paris dispatches said French cannonading at the south end of the

Jurors May Finish Work by Thursday

LISBON, Sept. 26—The September grand jury is expected to wind up a nine-day session here Thursday when it reports its findings after making the annual visit to the county jail, according to Louis Tobin, assistant to Prosecutor Karl T. Stouffer who is presenting the witnesses and conducting grand jury investigation.

Thirty-six witnesses were summoned for today and Wednesday as the final cases were to be brought before the grand jurors.

One of the most important cases as the session draws to a close is the investigation of the death of David Jackson, 8, of East Liverpool, who died last Friday of injuries sustained when he was struck in a school zone by a car driven by Wilbur Love, of Wellsville.

E. Liverpool Fire Probed By State

EAST LIVERPOOL, Sept. 26. — Deputy State Fire Marshal Russell Smith investigated here Monday after one fireman was injured and damages estimated at $2,500 was caused by a fire in an unoccupied double frame house which was being remodeled.

William Davis suffered a severed artery and other injuries to his left hand when he fell against a window pane while fighting the blaze.

(By Associated Press)

VAN WERT, Sept. 26—A woman arrested here with two men wanted in Virginia on robbery charges was identified today by Detective V. J. Smith of Akron as Virginia Brawdy, who escaped June 19 with three other women from the Ohio reformatory for women at Marysville.

In Columbus, Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood, advised of the capture by Reformatory Supt. Marguerite Reilley, instructed Mrs. Reilley to release the woman to Virginia authorities if she is wanted by them. Sherwood said he was informed the fugitive is wanted in Winchester, Va. for robbery.

Gives Canton Address

Arrested by Van Wert police yesterday, Miss Brawdy gave the name of Virginia Miller and said she lived in Canton. The Akron detective recognized her as Virginia Brawdy when he and Depty Inspector Robert Van Steenberg, Akron came here to check on the possibility the woman and her two companions were wanted in Akron.

Using a key obtained in a mysterious fashion, Miss Brawdy fled

Red Cross Forces Rallying To Bind Humanity's Wounds

Salem chapter, American Red Cross, has been advised by national headquarters to prepare itself for service in furnishing surgical dressings, garments and similar supplies for war sufferers.

It is not planned to start production of garments and hospital supplies in Salem immediately, but the Salem chapter will be so organized that work can be started as soon as the demand is known.

No solicitation of funds is being made at this time, but Salem chapter will receive contributions for relief in connection with the European conflict.

Contributors may designate the country for the relief of which they wish to have their contributions utilized, with the understanding that such funds will be applied by the American Red Cross society in the country designated.

The following committee has been appointed by Chairman E. S. Dawson to make plans for the work and to determine what should be done by Salem chapter: E. S. Kerr, chairman; Mrs. W. H. Dunn, Mrs. F. J. Emeny, F. W. McKee and Ralph Hawley.

This committee will be in constant touch with Red Cross national headquarters.

The national Red Cross already has cooperated with the government in assisting American citizens returning from abroad.

Thus far only the Polish Red Cross society has asked for medical and hospital supplies to care for helpless men, women and children. In response to this request propriated $50,000 to secure a propriated 350,000 to secure a quantity of hospital tents, blankets and drugs for shipment to Poland.

In urging local chapters to enter upon a preliminary program for the production of war supplies, Norman H. Davis, national chairman said:

"In these tragic days I have faith that the moral forces of the people of America will rally to support the Red Cross in carrying out its traditions of binding the wounds of suffering humanity whether caused by disaster or by the ravages of war."

BRITAIN ARMS ITS SHIPS TO REPULSE SUBS

Churchill Claims Seizure of German Goods Compensates Losses

CONVOY SYSTEM IS IN OPERATION

Report U-Boats Being Attacked In Vigorous Campaign

By J. C. STARK.

LONDON, Sept. 26.—The British war cabinet announced to parliament today the defensive arming of many merchant ships and the seizure of more German goods since the war started than Great Britain has lost in submarine attacks.

Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, made this disclosure in the house of commons after Prime Minister Chamberlain, in his fourth war report, had announced complete agreement with France on "procedure for coordinating and perfecting" munitions and supplies.

Convoy System Operates

Churchill, after saying the British convoy system now was in full operation and merchant ships all over the world were being armed to fight off submarines and airplanes, declared:

"So far as the submarine is concerned, the British empire and all its friends in every nation of the globe will be able to develop their immeasurable latent forces, and their man power can be concentrated in ever growing intensity on the task we have in hand, in which task we have only to persevere to conquer."

He was cheered loudly on this statement.

"In a short time the immense mercantile marine of the British empire will be armed," he said, adding that German submarines were being attacked with the "utmost vigor."

Prime Minister Chamberlain declared vital supplies "in ever increasing volume," were being made available to Britain by the dominions.

Asserting that Britain had "seized and converted to our own use 67,000 tons more of German merchandise than have been sunk in our own ships," Churchill said:

"We have got more supplies in our country this afternoon than we should have had if no war had been declared and if no U-boat had gone into action."

Chamberlain told the house that Germany already possessed stocks of raw materials and foodstuffs she has to import, so that quick results from the economic blockade should not be expected.

But he said if Britain could stop the flow of raw materials Germany needs for "the functions of her war industries, the result will be to effectively cripple her power to prolong hostilities."

Former Salem Man Found Dead Today

Arthur D. Coy, 60, of Girard, formerly of Salem, was found dead at 8:30 a. m. today in a ditch along a road in Newton Falls.

Coroner John C. Henshaw of Trumbull county ruled that Coy had died a natural death, apparently after suffering a heart attack while walking along the road. He had been dead about 12 hours when found, the coroner said.

Police here were notified but were unable to locate any relatives. A card found in his pocket gave his address as 227 N. Howard ave., Salem.

The family now living at this address informed Salem police that Mr. Coy had once lived in Salem, but had moved to Girard more than a year ago.

Collection of Taxes Will Begin Oct. 15

LISBON, Sept. 26.—Collection of property tax will begin Oct. 15 and close Nov. 1, County Treasurer Olen Dawson announced today.

Statements covering concluding assessments will be mailed to all taxpayers prior to the opening of collections, he said.

Dawson pointed out that, although the personal property taxes usually are collected in September, the collections have been delayed this year because inter-county returns, compiled by the state tax commission, have been held up.

Von Ribbentrop Goes To Moscow

MOSCOW, Sept. 26—Tass, the official Russian news agency announced today that Joachim Von Ribbentrop, German foreign minister, would arrive in Moscow tomorrow "to discuss with the government of the Soviet Union problems connected with developments in Poland."

The agency said Von Ribbentrop was coming on the invitation of the Russian government.

Toledo Is Without Funds For Relief

TOLEDO, Sept. 26.—This worried industrial city of 290,718 today sought some method of raising funds to resume relief shut off since Sept. 15.

Officials hope to get merchants to take deficiency judgments against the city in an attempt to erase $750,000 in back bills that led to the halting of all relief orders. The law provides deficiency judgments as a lien on the revenues of the ensuing year.

More than 200 persons, many of them relief clients, jammed city hall corridors as councilmen studied the deficiency proposal.

STUDY REPORTS ON CONTRABAND

U. S. Not Expected To Protest British, German Lists

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26—After a study of the contraband lists issued by Great Britain and Germany, two conclusions have been reached in official quarters here:

1. The lists look different but are essentially the same.

2. They correspond very closely to the American contraband list of 1917, and consequently no protest against them will be made by the United States government.

An American ship which carries contraband to a belligerent can be stopped, searched and her cargo seized. There are many precedents under international law which establish that the ship can be seized, too.

If the ship carrying contraband to a belligerent is stopped by a submarine which cannot escort her into port or place a prize crew aboard her, she may be sunk after careful provisions are taken for the safety of her crew and passengers.

That leaves little leeway for diplomatic action on the part of this government.

The German list as 13 categories of contraband articles compared to the British five, but the latter include everything contained in the German divisions.

In general, virtually any article could be included under the various categories. The first embraces arms, the second means of transtation, the third means of communication, the fourth money, and the fifth food and clothing. All ingredients or materials or machinery used in their manufacture are included.

There is one important difference apparent between the British and the German lists of today and those with which the World war ended. Food stuffs and clothing are made conditional contraband, as opposed to absolute contraband.

Under international law ships may carry conditional contraband even to belligerents, unless it is proved that the materials are destined for the belligerents' armed forces or government agencies.

REPORT FIGHTING ON WESTERN FRONT

Heavy Losses Reported For Both German and French Armies

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN, Sept. 26.—An army communique indicated today German forces had started to storm the defenses of Warsaw after all efforts had failed to convince the Polish commander of the "gruesomeness and uselessness of resistance."

The Polish capital has been besieged since Sept. 8. The final drive to crush Warsaw's resistance was launched yesterday.

In a surprise attack, the communique said the Germans captured Mokotowski fortress and then pushed into the Warsaw suburb of Mokotow. Mokotowski is one of four forts guarding Warsaw from the south and west. The others are forts Bema, Wolski and Szczeslikwicki.

Today's communique said the army in Poland was moving toward the German-Soviet Russian demarcation line, and that in brief fights with the Poles along the lower course of the San river 2,000 prisoners were taken by an armored division.

Planes Shot Down

Artillery fire and minor scouting activities were reported on the western front along with the shooting down of six French planes and two captive balloons. This boosted the air toll in the west, according to German figures, to 32 planes and six balloons.

A new gesture of friendliness toward France by the Nazi government was expected in informed quarters.

Rumors, completely without official verification, were to the effect that Germany might release French prisoners taken to date on the western front.

The same rumors had it that Germany believed the soldiers would be good peace propagandists, if they could be convinced the reich feels no animosity toward France.

Meanwhile French and German artillery exchanged fire south of Dweibruecken and across the Rhine frontier.

Paris dispatches said French cannonading at the south end of the

Jurors May Finish Work by Thursday

LISBON, Sept. 26—The September grand jury is expected to wind up a nine-day session here Thursday when it reports its findings after making the annual visit to the county jail, according to Louis Tobin, assistant to Prosecutor Karl T. Stouffer who is presenting the witnesses and conducting grand jury investigation.

Thirty-six witnesses were summoned for today and Wednesday as the final cases were to be brought before the grand jurors.

One of the most important cases as the session draws to a close is the investigation of the death of David Jackson, 8, of East Liverpool, who died last Friday of injuries sustained when he was struck in a school zone by a car driven by Wilbur Love, of Wellsville.

E. Liverpool Fire Probed By State

EAST LIVERPOOL, Sept. 26. — Deputy State Fire Marshal Russell Smith investigated here Monday after one fireman was injured and damages estimated at $2,500 was caused by a fire in an unoccupied double frame house which was being remodeled.

William Davis suffered a severed artery and other injuries to his left hand when he fell against a window pane while fighting the blaze.

LABOR SHORTAGE ON WPA

Reports from several communities last week of a shortage of workers for WPA jobs is the most encouraging industrial sign since the government became the nation's largest employer of manual labor.

So many men have been called back to work in industrial centers that some of the "made work" projects have been crippled. That is exactly what was hoped for when WPA was established. It was emergency action to give men a chance to earn a simple living until they could return to their regular jobs.

Private employment has been on the steady upgrade for several weeks and a growing backlog of orders in manufacturing plants indicates that this is likely to continue for some time.

Without discrediting the considerable amount of good WPA has done, America fervently hopes that the time is coming when it will be forced to shut up shop by a labor shortage.

GYPSIES A NUISANCE?

Keeping gypsies out of the county isn't the easiest task that confronts him, Sheriff Harry Gosney has learned. Gosney agrees with this paper that the roving bands should be kept on the move because of depredations they commit. He also feels that he has done everything within his power to rid the county of these undesirables.

The hitch comes when property owners rent land to these squatters, thus giving them some legal status in the county. Gypsies now in the county pay rent to the owner of land on Route 7 and they have their owner's written consent to camp on his land.

If, for the sake of a few dollars, property owners permit gypsies to wander around the county, robbing innocent victims, there should be some other way to get around this protection. Why can't the prosecuting attorney declare them a nuisance, as they are, and give the sheriff authority to send them on their way?

TOO MUCH BIG THINKING

The trouble with this country, says a country editor, writing in one of the national magazines, is "too much big thinking." What he means, he goes on to say, is that Americans would be better off if they would do more thinking about the things which surround them rather than the world's major problems.

Maybe he's right. It would be comforting to the American peace of mind and probably just as beneficial in the long run if everybody helped solve the little things in their everyday life and the things which need fixing up in their own homes and on their own streets instead of taxing their minds with the frenzied state of things in far places.

Big thinking by big men is the world's crying need but most of us are little people and if we take care of the little things the big ones are pretty sure to be handled all right. Such a matter as casting our ballot in an election is one of the little things but upon it depends the course of the nation. For another thing it would keep people from asking us who will win the war when we would rather talk about the football game or the prospects for fishing.

BLOCKADE AND BLACKLIST

Blockades already have been laid down by waring nations and certain articles of commerce have been labeled contraband and thus subject to seizure or destruction on the high seas. The blacklist by which neutrals are forbidden to ship goods to German-controlled firms in neutral countries may be imposed at any time, following the World war precedent.

Americans will be indignant over both and will talk mightily of freedom of the seas and inviolability of commerce. They cannot, however, well forget their own policy during the Civil war.

Back in the '60s, President Lincoln's cruisers threw a blockade around the south and set about deliberately to starve not only General Lee's army but his civilians as well. They stopped and searched neutral vessels, mostly British, and did their best to cut off all commerce with the South. England protested but the blockade remained until the end of the war.

It is a point to remember the first time a British warship or a German submarine takes over an American cargo which would be valuable to the enemy.

NEVER SUCH A WAR

There has never been a war like that under way on the front between Germany and France. Never have such weapons of offense and defense faced each other and never have the commanders employed the kind of strategy which the world is now witnessing.

For two weeks powerful armies, immeasurably better armed and better prepared than those at the start of hostilities in 1914, have faced each other across a 12-mile no man's land but there has been only minor skirmishing, a cautious exchange of artillery fire and a bit of bickering in the skies.

German sources profess to believe that this is because France and England are not in the war wholeheartedly and are only putting up a show of fighting until there comes a propitious moment to talk peace, but there is a deeper reason for the comparative calm on the embattled front.

Armies are waiting because war has grown so greatly in its horrible possibilities in the last 20 years that neither side can estimate with any assurance what will be the result of a real offensive.

The Maginot line and the Siegfried line which face each other are defensive works the like of which war never has known. Either could be taken, if at all, except at a cost so staggering in manpower that neither side can afford the risk.

This stalemate which, military experts say, might continue for months or even for years, is tremendously in favor of England and France which count Germany's shortage of food and other war essentials as their most powerful ally. Germany's best strategy is the kind of "blitzkrieg" with which she overran Poland. Her enemies are strongest in a war of waiting.

It is this situation which strikes terror in Belgium and Holland, fearful lest Germany, stopped on the French front, again trample the neutrality of smaller nations for an attack around the flank of the Maginot line.

They remember that Verdun, a circle of older forts much less formidable than the new line, stopped the Germans in 1917 despite furious fighting for 16 months and at a sickening loss of manpower. If the Maginot line holds they fear, with much cause, that Nazi troops will again invade their borders rather than face a waiting war which Germany cannot win.

Mrs. C. C. Taylor and Miss Olive Stewart spent Thursday with relatives and friends in Youngstown.

THE STARS SAY:

For Wednesday, September 27

A SUDDEN and surprising turn of events may make this an interesting and memorable day, according to an intriguing array of planetary configurations. A particular incident may be concerned with public relations, in which there will be contact with authorities or those of influence and power. Some of these will be found kindly disposed, but tact, diplomacy or perhaps "wire-pulling" may be required to win the favor of others.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a year of surprising and unprecedented events, possibly in connection with a public office or an assignment of importance. This may be engineered by the good offices of those of prestige and popularity, whose immediate cooperation is vital since hostile factions may arise. These may be placated by finesse or tact rather than direct approach. In all be vigilant, alert to treachery and subtlety. Much happiness is seen.

A child born on this day may be endowed with outstanding gifts of mind and traits of character to fit it for place and power in public standing, either in politics, diplomacy, science, education, philanthropy or religion. Its qualities assure it success and high esteem.

St. Louis Doctor Asserts That Gastritis Does Exist

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

IF YOU said gastritis—inflammation of the stomach—to a doctor of a quarter of a century ago, he probably would have told you there was no such an animal. But now Dr. Horace Soper, of St. Louis, devotes a chapter to gastritis in his new book on disorders of the digestive system.

It is true that the diagnosis of gastrtitis was often made, and then it was found the real trouble was something very serious, like ulcer or gallstones or cancer. The diagnosis of gastritis allowed precious time to be wasted and served as a smokescreen to conceal the real condition from the family and medical attendant.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Undoubtedly, these things were true and still remain so. Still, it is probable that they were overemphasized and that true gastritis does exist.

Two Forms Exist

Two forms, at any rate, exist. One is the acute form due to indigestion of food or drink in excessive quantities. It soon subsides and, if left alone, causes no changes in the lining mucous membrane of the stomach. The modern practitioner with the gastroscope, the instrument that illuminates the inside of the stomch, can see these changes easily.

Another form is alcoholic gastritis, caused by a bout with the bottle. We know this exists, because when William Beaumont was studying his patient, Alexis St. Martin, who had a gunshot wound in the stomach so that the lining could be seen through the fistula, he frequently observed it. St. Martin used to go on sprees, and on the days when he was sobering up and suffering from nausea, Beaumont saw the inside of the stomach. It was red, glistening, dry and raw.

There is no reason to suppose then that the lining of the stomach cannot suffer inflammtion.

Hurst the English student, believes that patients with a constitutional increase of stomach secretion, together with a drooping stomach, may develop chronic gastritis because their stomach lining is subject to insults which the average person escapes.

Not By X-ray

Gastritis cannot be detected by the x-ray, but Schindler, with the gastroscope, has, as we indicated above, actually seen the appearance of the inflamed mucosa. But the older clinicians, long before the x-ray or the gastroscope, developed methods of recognition in the appearance of the stomach contents. If one feeds a normal person a piece of white bread and a glass of water and removes it an hour later, the bread will be finely pulverized by the action of the hydrochloric acid of the stomach contents; and, normally, there will be no mucous. In gastritis the bread comes back in great lumps and there is an abundance of mucous from the stomach lining.

In treatment we also employ an old-fashioned device that fell into disrepute because it was used too much—washing of the stomach or lavage. It is comforting and logical. We wash out an inflamed cut on the hand, and it feels better afterwards. Why not wash out inflamed stomachs?

The diet should include food finely pulverized and devoid of roughage. Alcoholic and hot drinks should be avoided. Small pieces of ice swallowed before they dissolve are very grateful. Avoid all food which contains bacteria, such as raw or pasteurized milk.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Seven pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, 235 E. 45th St., New York City. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

LABOR SHORTAGE ON WPA

Reports from several communities last week of a shortage of workers for WPA jobs is the most encouraging industrial sign since the government became the nation's largest employer of manual labor.

So many men have been called back to work in industrial centers that some of the "made work" projects have been crippled. That is exactly what was hoped for when WPA was established. It was emergency action to give men a chance to earn a simple living until they could return to their regular jobs.

Private employment has been on the steady upgrade for several weeks and a growing backlog of orders in manufacturing plants indicates that this is likely to continue for some time.

Without discrediting the considerable amount of good WPA has done, America fervently hopes that the time is coming when it will be forced to shut up shop by a labor shortage.

GYPSIES A NUISANCE?

Keeping gypsies out of the county isn't the easiest task that confronts him, Sheriff Harry Gosney has learned. Gosney agrees with this paper that the roving bands should be kept on the move because of depredations they commit. He also feels that he has done everything within his power to rid the county of these undesirables.

The hitch comes when property owners rent land to these squatters, thus giving them some legal status in the county. Gypsies now in the county pay rent to the owner of land on Route 7 and they have their owner's written consent to camp on his land.

If, for the sake of a few dollars, property owners permit gypsies to wander around the county, robbing innocent victims, there should be some other way to get around this protection. Why can't the prosecuting attorney declare them a nuisance, as they are, and give the sheriff authority to send them on their way?

TOO MUCH BIG THINKING

The trouble with this country, says a country editor, writing in one of the national magazines, is "too much big thinking." What he means, he goes on to say, is that Americans would be better off if they would do more thinking about the things which surround them rather than the world's major problems.

Maybe he's right. It would be comforting to the American peace of mind and probably just as beneficial in the long run if everybody helped solve the little things in their everyday life and the things which need fixing up in their own homes and on their own streets instead of taxing their minds with the frenzied state of things in far places.

Big thinking by big men is the world's crying need but most of us are little people and if we take care of the little things the big ones are pretty sure to be handled all right. Such a matter as casting our ballot in an election is one of the little things but upon it depends the course of the nation. For another thing it would keep people from asking us who will win the war when we would rather talk about the football game or the prospects for fishing.

BLOCKADE AND BLACKLIST

Blockades already have been laid down by waring nations and certain articles of commerce have been labeled contraband and thus subject to seizure or destruction on the high seas. The blacklist by which neutrals are forbidden to ship goods to German-controlled firms in neutral countries may be imposed at any time, following the World war precedent.

Americans will be indignant over both and will talk mightily of freedom of the seas and inviolability of commerce. They cannot, however, well forget their own policy during the Civil war.

Back in the '60s, President Lincoln's cruisers threw a blockade around the south and set about deliberately to starve not only General Lee's army but his civilians as well. They stopped and searched neutral vessels, mostly British, and did their best to cut off all commerce with the South. England protested but the blockade remained until the end of the war.

It is a point to remember the first time a British warship or a German submarine takes over an American cargo which would be valuable to the enemy.

NEVER SUCH A WAR

There has never been a war like that under way on the front between Germany and France. Never have such weapons of offense and defense faced each other and never have the commanders employed the kind of strategy which the world is now witnessing.

For two weeks powerful armies, immeasurably better armed and better prepared than those at the start of hostilities in 1914, have faced each other across a 12-mile no man's land but there has been only minor skirmishing, a cautious exchange of artillery fire and a bit of bickering in the skies.

German sources profess to believe that this is because France and England are not in the war wholeheartedly and are only putting up a show of fighting until there comes a propitious moment to talk peace, but there is a deeper reason for the comparative calm on the embattled front.

Armies are waiting because war has grown so greatly in its horrible possibilities in the last 20 years that neither side can estimate with any assurance what will be the result of a real offensive.

The Maginot line and the Siegfried line which face each other are defensive works the like of which war never has known. Either could be taken, if at all, except at a cost so staggering in manpower that neither side can afford the risk.

This stalemate which, military experts say, might continue for months or even for years, is tremendously in favor of England and France which count Germany's shortage of food and other war essentials as their most powerful ally. Germany's best strategy is the kind of "blitzkrieg" with which she overran Poland. Her enemies are strongest in a war of waiting.

It is this situation which strikes terror in Belgium and Holland, fearful lest Germany, stopped on the French front, again trample the neutrality of smaller nations for an attack around the flank of the Maginot line.

They remember that Verdun, a circle of older forts much less formidable than the new line, stopped the Germans in 1917 despite furious fighting for 16 months and at a sickening loss of manpower. If the Maginot line holds they fear, with much cause, that Nazi troops will again invade their borders rather than face a waiting war which Germany cannot win.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

(Issue of September 26, 1919.)

A number of inquiries have been made of the local Chamber of Commerce regarding the carrying of passengers, Saturday, by Lieut. Stinson in his Curtiss plane. There are three persons who have made arrangements to make flights on Saturday. They are F. G. Senften, Wilbur Thomas and W. P. Mellott.

R. E. Spencer, formerly of this city but now of East Liverpool, is in the city to make moving pictures of the homecoming. Historic scenes, notable residences, the community dance, the parade and decorations, prominent citizens, the exhibits and other items of interest will be filmed. The pictures will be shown in Salem soon.

Friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. John Shelton met at their home and honored them with a farewell party Thursday evening. They will move to near Leetonia to make their home. The time was spent socially and refreshments were served.

Mrs. C. S. Carr entertained a small company of friends at luncheon Thursday at her home on the Ellsworth road. Mrs. Brooks of Sewickley, Pa., was a guest.

Samuel Fawcett of Denver, Colo., formerly of Salem, is making his first visit back to this city after an absence of 40 years. He is the guest of his niece, Mrs. Luella Harris, McKinley ave. He is also an uncle of R. F. Fawcett.

Mrs. C. C. Taylor and Miss Olive Stewart spent Thursday with relatives and friends in Youngstown.

THE STARS SAY:

For Wednesday, September 27

A SUDDEN and surprising turn of events may make this an interesting and memorable day, according to an intriguing array of planetary configurations. A particular incident may be concerned with public relations, in which there will be contact with authorities or those of influence and power. Some of these will be found kindly disposed, but tact, diplomacy or perhaps "wire-pulling" may be required to win the favor of others.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a year of surprising and unprecedented events, possibly in connection with a public office or an assignment of importance. This may be engineered by the good offices of those of prestige and popularity, whose immediate cooperation is vital since hostile factions may arise. These may be placated by finesse or tact rather than direct approach. In all be vigilant, alert to treachery and subtlety. Much happiness is seen.

A child born on this day may be endowed with outstanding gifts of mind and traits of character to fit it for place and power in public standing, either in politics, diplomacy, science, education, philanthropy or religion. Its qualities assure it success and high esteem.

St. Louis Doctor Asserts That Gastritis Does Exist

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

IF YOU said gastritis—inflammation of the stomach—to a doctor of a quarter of a century ago, he probably would have told you there was no such an animal. But now Dr. Horace Soper, of St. Louis, devotes a chapter to gastritis in his new book on disorders of the digestive system.

It is true that the diagnosis of gastrtitis was often made, and then it was found the real trouble was something very serious, like ulcer or gallstones or cancer. The diagnosis of gastritis allowed precious time to be wasted and served as a smokescreen to conceal the real condition from the family and medical attendant.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Undoubtedly, these things were true and still remain so. Still, it is probable that they were overemphasized and that true gastritis does exist.

Two Forms Exist

Two forms, at any rate, exist. One is the acute form due to indigestion of food or drink in excessive quantities. It soon subsides and, if left alone, causes no changes in the lining mucous membrane of the stomach. The modern practitioner with the gastroscope, the instrument that illuminates the inside of the stomch, can see these changes easily.

"REDHEADS ARE LUCKY"

By Vera Brown

SYNOPSIS

"Mike" Shannon, petite redheaded magazine counter girl at the Eureka hotel, had bitten the already renowned left hand of "Handsome" Larry Regan while he was stifling her cry of alarm. She ran into him as he — a famous rookie big league pitcher—was trying to sneak to his hotel room via a rear entrance of a team "curfew law spotter." Handsome had been drinking a little. He apologized to Mike and persuaded the indignant red-head to accompany him to a nearby lunch room. Though she saved him from the club's "curfew scout," she was still annoyed with the brash young athlete when he let her go home alone. The next day Mike read in the paper how Handsome—"Shiek from Charlotte"—was giving Ace Barnes, the team manager, "a lot of headaches." At dinner, that night, Regan is explaining the situation to Mike.

CHAPTER IV

Mike shook her head. "Larry, I think you're off to a wrong start."

"You're telling me?"

"Listen to me! Why don't they let you pitch? You started a couple of games early in the season."

"That's why! The guys are just jealous. I get so much fan mail—"

"Larry Regan! They wouldn't care if you got letters from the Queen of Sheba if you can win ball games!"

Larry stared solemnly at her for a moment.

"Maybe you're right."

"What do you think? Use your head, Larry. You've been drinking. The club must know it. So do the newspaper men. See what they said about you today. Everybody can't be wrong."

He grinned at her: "All right. I'll go on the wagon. That is, if you'll eat dinner with me, keep me amused and let me talk baseball to you. Most women don't like that."

Mike was compelled to laugh. But the upshot of it all was that while the team was in town that month, Mike had dinner with Handsome much more frequently than she had any idea of doing. They ate often at the little steak place. Sometimes some of the other ball players dropped in.

It was two weeks after her first meeting with Handsome that Wish Malone came over and joined them one night at dinner. Handsome was not even drinking beer these days. He was a model of good behavior, and he never let Mike forget it for a moment. She had to keep praising him.

Mike liked Wish. She liked his attitude toward Handsome, so different from that of Travis and some of the others who came there. They were obscurely insulting. Handsome seemed utterly oblivious of that fact, but it made Mike furious. She realized that if any of them stopped at Handsome's table as they passed, they did so because the girls they were with demanded it.

Wish was a lively story teller and kept Mike enthralled. They sat a long time over dinner, and for a little while Handsome went over to speak to Sarg Westlake and left her alone with the old coach.

"He's a good kid," Wish remarked as he watched Handsome make his way across the room. "But he's in for some hard knocks before he gets any sense."

Mike agreed but she was not going to admit it to Wish.

"He's just a child!"

Wish watched Mike speculatively. "But he could be such a valuable 'child' to us, Miss Shannon."

"He will be!" Mike was startled at the fierceness in her voice as she spoke. Wish eyed her again, leaned back and seemed to be thinking. Then he leaned forward and said quickly: "I wish you'd marry him, marry him right away!"

Mike stared at Wish Malone without answering. Her cheeks flushed suddenly. Wish was insistent.

"I mean it. Marry him right away. Together we can make Regan the greatest pitcher this country has ever known. I know what I'm talking about."

"Don't be ridiculous!"

"But you can handle him. Larry needs a steadying influence, Miss Shannon...." At that point, Larry returned to their table.

Mike was embarrassed but Wish kept right on talking easily:

"I've been telling Miss Shannon that baseball players are the most superstitious guys in the world."

"I'm not." Larry sat down and patted Mike's hand.

"Are you sure?" Mike laughed. And Wish guffawed. "Say, Handsome will run a mile to see a load of empty barrels. They mean base hits."

All such talk opened a new world for Mike and she thoroughly enjoyed it. Larry seemed utterly oblivious to the fact her clothes were not smart or expensive. He seemed to like to be with her, and Mike was completely happy.

It was two days after she had seen Wish in the restaurant that one noon he dropped in at the hotel.

"Did you think about what I said?"

Mike flushed, pretended not to understand. But she had thought of little else. Wish's words had brought home to her the disconcerting fact that she was too interested in Handsome.

"I can't be in love with him." That is the way all her arguments and self-reproaches ended. But she was scared. If she were? The idea terrified her. For Mike saw clearly that being in love with Larry would be Spartan training for any woman. Wish, watching her face, guessed something of what she thought and felt.

"It wouldn't be so bad, married to Handsome. He'll go a long way ....with the right woman."

"Whatever put this idea into your head?" she demanded to gain time rather than to get an answer.

"Well, you've got him on the wagon and he's not so quarrelsome in the shower rooms. He's difficult, Mike. The gang don't like him. He got off wrong. He broke up their poker parties. He's too good looking to be true. But he's a real pitcher if he's handled right."

"I'd hate to have the job."

"Well, I wish you'd keep an eye on him. If he wants to get engaged to you, go ahead."

"And I'm supposed to marry a man who never thought of asking me, just so you can win ball games!"

"I don't put it that way. But he's got me crazy. I'm looking for help, Mike. You can give it. He's got an idea that redheads are lucky for him."

"How do you know he thinks redheads are lucky?" Miss Shannon asked. Wish began to wonder if he'd made a mistake. "Now don't duck that one, Mr. Malone. Certainly we've been frank with each other."

"He told Sarge Westlake."

"What!"

"Now, now don't get upset."

"I suppose the whole club knows now that Handsome is rushing me because he thinks I'm lucky!" Her eyes blazed for her pride was hurt.

"Of course they don't! Sarge is a sphinx; he doesn't barber, that is, talk. Why you should be angry I don't know. Handsome just thinks you're a good influence in his life. Nothing else."

But Mike exploded "You and your old ball team. I never want to see any of you again! You all may make a fool of Handsome, but not of me!"

"Mike!" Wish was horrified. Women were impossible. What could any woman want, but to be a good influence in the life of a ball player? He said something of this to Mike. She answered abruptly:

"She might like to have the ball player care a little about her! Did that ever occur to you?"

"Well, he does!"

"If he does and when he tells me about it, I'll take the whole thing up with him. This is all disgusting! There's something else in this world besides winning ball games!"

Wish stood very straight and his handsome white head was high as he said sternly:

"Those are true words, young woman. The ball games themselves are not first. There's making good in this world, bringing happiness to those who have faith in you. There's the making of a wild youngster into a real man! Any woman who can help in the making of such a real man——"

Mike gasped. "You mean that, don't you?"

"Of course, I do. I'm the first to admit I want that World's Series money. Who doesn't? But I want more to see Handsome make good. Find himself."

Mike smiled at Wish: "I feel as though I'd been to church."

"You have!" Wish's eyes twinkled.

"What do you really want me to do, What do you really want me to do to help Handsome?" Mike asked.

"REDHEADS ARE LUCKY"

By VERA BROWN

SYNOPSIS

"Mike" Shannon, petite redheaded magazine counter girl at the Eureka hotel, had bitten the already renowned left hand of "Handsome" Larry Regan while he was stifling her cry of alarm. She ran into him as he — a famous rookie big league pitcher—was trying to sneak to his hotel room via a rear entrance of a team "curfew law spotter." Handsome had been drinking a little. He apologized to Mike and persuaded the indignant red-head to accompany him to a nearby lunch room. Though she saved him from the club's "curfew scout," she was still annoyed with the brash young athlete when he let her go home alone. The next day Mike read in the paper how Handsome—"Shiek from Charlotte"—was giving Ace Barnes, the team manager, "a lot of headaches." At dinner, that night, Regan is explaining the situation to Mike.

CHAPTER IV

Mike shook her head. "Larry, I think you're off to a wrong start."

"You're telling me?"

"Listen to me! Why don't they let you pitch? You started a couple of games early in the season."

"That's why! The guys are just jealous. I get so much fan mail—"

"Larry Regan! They wouldn't care if you got letters from the Queen of Sheba if you can win ball games!"

Larry stared solemnly at her for a moment.

"Maybe you're right."

"What do you think? Use your head, Larry. You've been drinking. The club must know it. So do the newspaper men. See what they said about you today. Everybody can't be wrong."

He grinned at her: "All right. I'll go on the wagon. That is, if you'll eat dinner with me, keep me amused and let me talk baseball to you. Most women don't like that."

Mike was compelled to laugh. But the upshot of it all was that while the team was in town that month, Mike had dinner with Handsome much more frequently than she had any idea of doing. They ate often at the little steak place. Sometimes some of the other ball players dropped in.

It was two weeks after her first meeting with Handsome that Wish Malone came over and joined them one night at dinner. Handsome was not even drinking beer these days. He was a model of good behavior, and he never let Mike forget it for a moment. She had to keep praising him.

Mike liked Wish. She liked his attitude toward Handsome, so different from that of Travis and some of the others who came there. They were obscurely insulting. Handsome seemed utterly oblivious of that fact, but it made Mike furious. She realized that if any of them stopped at Handsome's table as they passed, they did so because the girls they were with demanded it.

Wish was a lively story teller and kept Mike enthralled. They sat a long time over dinner, and for a little while Handsome went over to speak to Sarg Westlake and left her alone with the old coach.

"He's a good kid," Wish remarked as he watched Handsome make his way across the room. "But he's in for some hard knocks before he gets any sense."

Mike agreed but she was not going to admit it to Wish.

"He's just a child!"

Wish watched Mike speculatively. "But he could be such a valuable 'child' to us, Miss Shannon."

"He will be!" Mike was startled at the fierceness in her voice as she spoke. Wish eyed her again, leaned back and seemed to be thinking. Then he leaned forward and said quickly: "I wish you'd marry him, marry him right away!"

Mike stared at Wish Malone without answering. Her cheeks flushed suddenly. Wish was insistent.

"I mean it. Marry him right away. Together we can make Regan the greatest pitcher this country has ever known. I know what I'm talking about."

"Don't be ridiculous!"

"But you can handle him. Larry needs a steadying influence, Miss Shannon...." At that point, Larry returned to their table.

Mike was embarrassed but Wish kept right on talking easily:

"I've been telling Miss Shannon that baseball players are the most superstitious guys in the world."

"I'm not." Larry sat down and patted Mike's hand.

"Are you sure?" Mike laughed. And Wish guffawed. "Say, Handsome will run a mile to see a load of empty barrels. They mean base hits."

All such talk opened a new world for Mike and she thoroughly enjoyed it. Larry seemed utterly oblivious to the fact her clothes were not smart or expensive. He seemed to like to be with her, and Mike was completely happy.

It was two days after she had seen Wish in the restaurant that one noon he dropped in at the hotel.

"Did you think about what I said?"

Mike flushed, pretended not to understand. But she had thought of little else. Wish's words had brought home to her the disconcerting fact that she was too interested in Handsome.

"I can't be in love with him." That is the way all her arguments and self-reproaches ended. But she was scared. If she were? The idea terrified her. For Mike saw clearly that being in love with Larry would be Spartan training for any woman. Wish, watching her face, guessed something of what she thought and felt.

"It wouldn't be so bad, married to Handsome. He'll go a long way ....with the right woman."

"Whatever put this idea into your head?" she demanded to gain time rather than to get an answer.

"Well, you've got him on the wagon and he's not so quarrelsome in the shower rooms. He's difficult, Mike. The gang don't like him. He got off wrong. He broke up their poker parties. He's too good looking to be true. But he's a real pitcher if he's handled right."

"I'd hate to have the job."

"Well, I wish you'd keep an eye on him. If he wants to get engaged to you, go ahead."

"And I'm supposed to marry a man who never thought of asking me, just so you can win ball games!"

"I don't put it that way. But he's got me crazy. I'm looking for help, Mike. You can give it. He's got an idea that redheads are lucky for him."

"How do you know he thinks redheads are lucky?" Miss Shannon asked. Wish began to wonder if he'd made a mistake. "Now don't duck that one, Mr. Malone. Certainly we've been frank with each other."

"He told Sarge Westlake."

"What!"

"Now, now don't get upset."

"I suppose the whole club knows now that Handsome is rushing me because he thinks I'm lucky!" Her eyes blazed for her pride was hurt.

"Of course they don't! Sarge is a sphinx; he doesn't barber, that is, talk. Why you should be angry I don't know. Handsome just thinks you're a good influence in his life. Nothing else."

Mike gasped. "You mean that, don't you?"

"Of course, I do. I'm the first to admit I want that World's Series money. Who doesn't? But I want more to see Handsome make good. Find himself."

Mike smiled at Wish: "I feel as though I'd been to church."

"You have!" Wish's eyes twinkled.

"What do you really want me to do to help Handsome?" Mike asked.

Theater Attractions

The youngest picture stealer in films, baby Sandy, who walked away with Bing Crosby's last film, "East Side of Heaven", is the star of a comedy, "Unexpected Father", which shows Wednesday only at the State.

Sandy, who was born Jan. 14, 1936, the daughter of a Los Angeles milkman, has played the role of a boy during her entire career. Her other film appearance was as a boy in "East Side of Heaven" about six months ago, and since that time she has learned to walk and talk.

Shirley Ross and Mischa Auer, who appeared in Sandy's first film are with her again in the story of an orphaned baby who is taken in by a group of theater employes. Jane Darwell, Donald Briggs, Dennis O'Keefe, Richard Lane, Joy Hodges, and Mayo Methot are seen in the cast.

Complications

When the baby's mother is killed, her former dancing partner, played by Dennis O'Keefe, takes the baby to live with him and his roommate, played by Auer. Having no one to leave the baby with, they take him to the theater with them and nearly lose their jobs.

A chance for a night club job is lost because the house in which they live is quarantined and authorities take the baby from the boys and put him in an orphanage. The baby stages a hunger strike so the authorities decide to let the boys adopt him. The whole thing becomes complicated when O'Keefe's girl friend decides to marry a man she doesn't love to be able to give the baby a home.

Good comedy, well-played and romance which never interrupts the story of the baby's adventures make the picture good entertainment.

At the Grand Wednesday only is a double bill: "Quick Millions," with Jones Family comedy with Jed Prouty, Spring Byington, Ken Howell, George Ernest and other "family" members; and "Behind Prison Bates", with Brian Donlevy, Jacqueline Wells, Dick Curtis and Richard Fiske.

Win the "best dressed" vote on campus or in town by wearing this captivating young dress. Anne Adams' Pattern 4260 will carry you to football games, to classes, to tea dances, to work, all with candid style. You can make it of one fabric, say a soft, bright wool, or use the top and skirt in spirited contrast. Those easy darts at the shoulders are very dashing, especially if you end them with sporty, pointed pockets. Isn't the rounded "little-girl" collar becoming? And see the back buttoning down to the very waist—so new and jaunty! There's a swish, bias-cut skirt and either long or short sleeves look well.

Pattern 4260 is available in misses' sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 16 takes 4¼ yards 39 inch fabric.

Theater Attractions

The youngest picture stealer in films, baby Sandy, who walked away with Bing Crosby's last film, "East Side of Heaven", is the star of a comedy, "Unexpected Father", which shows Wednesday only at the State.

Sandy, who was born Jan. 14, 1938, the daughter of a Los Angeles milkman, has played the role of a boy during her entire career. Her other film appearance was as a boy in "East Side of Heaven" about six months ago, and since that time she has learned to walk and talk.

Shirley Ross and Mischa Auer, who appeared in Sandy's first film, are with her again in the story of an orphaned baby who is taken in by a group of theater employes. Jane Darwell, Donald Briggs, Dennis O'Keefe, Richard Lane, Joy Hodges, and Mayo Methot are seen in the cast.

Complications

When the baby's mother is killed, her former dancing partner, played by Dennis O'Keefe, takes the baby to live with him and his roommate, played by Auer. Having no one to leave the baby with, they take him to the theater with them and nearly lose their jobs.

A chance for a night club job is lost because the house in which they live is quarantined and authorities take the baby from the boys and put him in an orphanage.

The baby stages a hunger strike so the authorities decide to let the boys adopt him. The whole thing becomes complicated when O'Keefe's girl friend decides to marry a man she doesn't love to be able to give the baby a home.

Good comedy, well-played, and a romance which never interrupts the story of the baby's adventure, make the picture good entertainment.

Concluding tonight at the State is Bing Crosby's "The Star Maker".

MINERVA MAN CLUB SPEAKER

Bob Cook addresses Members of Columbiana Organization

COLUMBIANA, Sept. 26.—Bob Cook, Minerva, was the speaker Monday evening at the meeting of the Columbiana Rotary club. Cook, graduate of Ohio State university, who enters law school next week is handicapped physically as the result of infantile paralysis. His talk was an inspiration, showing how one can rise above handicaps.

He was introduced by C. F. Moser, program chairman, who had been his teacher many years ago in Minerva. Visitors at the meeting were Rotarians C. F. Homan, Canton, and James McDonald, Salem. Next week's meeting will be a "pep meeting" for members in preparation for the coming fall festival. President Elmer Detwiler appointed the following festival committees:

Publicity, Evan Roller, Clark Oglevee, Paul Reeves; tickets, Edgar Miller, Harry Herrman and Isaiah Mowen.

Arthur Yoder Dies

Relatives here have received word of the death at his home in Los Angeles, Calif., of Arthur N. Yoder, who was born and reared in Columbiana, the younger son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Yoder. He was found dead in his bed Sunday morning. The deceased, a World war veteran, was a nephew of Mrs. Olive Holloway, N. Elm st.

John Esterly and Walter Holloway went to Columbus Sunday, where they are enrolled as freshmen at Ohio State university, and will spend three days at the Y. M. C. A. freshman camp near Bellefontaine. They were accompanied to Columbus by Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Esterly.

At Legion Rally

H. C. Culp, Roy Kerr, C. W. Sprott and Homer Harrold are among the local veterans attending the national convention of the American Legion at Chicago this week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Miller have received word of the birth of a granddaughter Sunday at East Palestine, the parents being Mr. and Mrs. Howard Maurer, former local residents.

Townsend Speaker

Rev. Green of Alliance will be the speaker at the meeting of the local Townsend club at the city hall at 8 p. m. Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Widdersheim of Clevland and Mrs. Park Widdersheim of Youngstown were Sunday guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Donbar.

Mrs. Blanche Lee and daughter Mary, Misses Katie and Julia Quinn of Braddock, Pa., visited Sunday with friends here.

The official board of the Presbyterian church met at the church Monday evening to discuss the fall program of the church. The men of the church will hold a steak fry at Firestone park Wednesday evening. All men of the church are invited and are asked to meet at the church at 7 o'clock. The purpose of the meeting is to organize a Men's brotherhood.

Members of the Kiwanis club joined with the East Palestine club in a meeting at the Methodist church at New Waterford. Ladies were guests.

Four Had Rabies

LISBON, Sept. 26—County Dog Warden Dan Butch disclosed today that between Sept. 14 and Sept. 23 he had sent to Columbus the heads of seven animals which showed rabies tendencies.

Only four of the specimens showed positive reactions to rabies tests, he said.

BELOIT SELECTS P.-T. A. DELEGATE

Mrs. Harold Scott Will Attend State Rally Oct. 11-12

BELOIT, Sept. 26—Mrs. Harold Scott president of the Beloit Parent-Teachers association, has been named delegate to attend the state convention Oct. 11-12 at Columbus. The appointment was announced at the first meeting of the new school year, held recently at the school.

Prayer was offered by Rev. Paul Lindley. Miss Betty Tatsch gave a talk on her trip to Washington, D. C., with the junior and senior class last spring. Reports of the various committees were given. They were: Membership, Mrs. Frank Kampfer; health, Mrs. Fred Weizenecker; ways and means, Emmet Weizenecker, and mother's group singing class, Mrs. Louis Williams.

Talks were given by Rev. Lindley, Supt. Louis Williams and Mrs. Scott on the topic, "Our School Should be a Community Center". A solo was sung by Mrs. Emmet Weizenecker, accompanied at the piano by her husband.

Supt. Williams introduced the teaching staff after which a social hour followed with the teachers serving the refreshments.

Miss Dixon Hostess

The October meeting of the Nyselyn class will be held with Miss Kathleen Dixon. The announcement was made at the meeting held recently at the home of Paul Sams. Maurice Lindley, president, conducted the devotionals. The social hour was in charge of Miss Della Weizenecker and Miss Kath'een Dixon. Lunch was served by Miss Lois Sams and Miss Dixon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hiltbrand of Cleveland were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kinney spent the weekend in Girard visiting their parents. While there Mr. Kinney had his wrist badly cut in an accident.

Visit in Deerfield

Mrs. Anna Shreve and daughter Lucille and grandchildren, Walter and Paul Bailey and Miss Ruth Mott called Sunday on Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Shreve at Deerfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Phillips were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Glendon McKenzie at Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Case were honored guests at a family dinner given recently in celebration of their golden wedding anniversary, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Case. The table decorations were of gold and white.

Miss Nora Summers and Charles Case were united in marriage at Westville by Rev. J. H. Weaver, pastor of Westville Christian church. Four children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Case and they, with their families, were present Sunday. They were: Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ritter and daughter Lila, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Case of Salem; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Case and children Eugene and Mary Anna of Westville, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Case and children Leroy and Carol.

They lived on a farm near Westville until last July when they came to make their home with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Case. They were presented gifts.

Class Entertained

Members of the Dorcas class were entertained by Mrs. Marjorie Hull in Sebring last Friday. Mrs. Louis Williams conducted the devotionals. Miss Gladys Hicks told of her trip to the World's Fair at New York City. Mrs. Elsie Bush gave a talk on "World Conditions". Lunch was served.

Miss Phyllis Humphreys returned to Oxford last week where she will resume another year's work in Western College. She was accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Humphreys.

Walter, Lois and Paul Bailey left Monday morning for Wilmore, Ky., where they will enter Asbury college.

Mrs. Irene Ellett, who is ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Clyde Pettit, is reported about the same.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ingram of Salem were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Paul French.

The sophomore and junior classes of Beloit High school have organized for the purpose of raising money for their 1941 trip to Washington, D. C. The officers are: President, Miss Edith Hall; vice president, Miss Dorothy Schwarzhoff; secretary and treasurer, Miss Ruth Hawkins.

S. A. Barber of Sorrento, Fla., is visiting his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Barber.

Glen Wallace, who has been quite ill at his home, is not improved.

David Hicks is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Schaffer, at Rocky River.

Mrs. Cora Burns was a dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Birch at Alliance on Wednesday.

INSPECTION OF GRANGE IS SET

Officers Will Visit Garfield Unit Wednesday Evening

DAMASCUS, Sept. 26.—Inspection will be held at Garfield grange Wednesday evening. F. C. Heintzleman, Mahoning county deputy, will inspect the subordinate grange and Mrs. F. C. Heintzleman, Mahoning county matron, will inspect the juvenile grange.

The subordinate degree team will exemplify the third degree, and the juvenile degree team also will exemplify the work.

The committee in charge of the lunch consists of Mrs. G. R. Morton, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hendershot, Mr. and Mrs. William Mellott and Miss Lucille Greeneisen.

Dinner Is Enjoyed

Monte Carlo whist was enjoyed at a party Saturday evening given by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ward. A 6 o'clock dinner was served by Mrs. Ward with fall flowers for decorations. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Morlan and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Phillips and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Powell and daughter.

Club Will Meet

Members of the Neighborly club will enjoy a social evening with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crawford of Carrollton at their meeting in October.

The group was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Shreve Saturday evening, at a 7 o'clock dinner. Games and a social time were enjoyed with 18 present. Mrs. Shreve, Mrs. B. E. Cameron and Mrs. C. E. Crawford were the committee in charge.

Honor Mrs. Pettit

Mrs. Annie Pettit was honored at a party Sunday in observance of her birthday. Nephews and nieces of Mrs. Pettit and their families numbering 27 were present from Canton, Alliance, Salem, Winona, and Beloit. A picnic dinner was served on the lawn at noon and a social time enjoyed.

Roast Is Enjoyed

Sunday school classes taught by Rev. A. N. Henry and H. O. Stanley enjoyed a wiener roast Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whitcher, near North Georgetown.

HUME SETTING SCORING PACE IN GRID RANKS

Alliance Back Has Made 11 Touchdowns In Two Games

BY FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Sept. 26.—A football coach with a kid who can average a touchdown a game is considered pretty lucky — and that's why Ohio's High school mentors point to Dr. George Wilcoxen of of Alliance as the most fortunate one in their ranks.

For "Doc" has a boy, 17 years old, who has tallied 11 touchdowns in two contests this year. And that total is no "flash in the pan," for the same youngster, Quarterback Hillis Hume, counted 132 points a year ago to finish third among the state's point-getters.

Hume, who started off with a six-touchdown splurge against Minerva, came up with five more Saturday as the Aviators beat Bellevue—a team defeated but once last year—by 47 to 0.

(College coaches note: The word's out that Hume has decided to attend Ohio State).

Noteworthy Events

While Hume's scintillating personal performance made the other gridiron feats seem rather ordinary by comparison, the weekend did bring forth some noteworthy events.

Rating second mention was mighty Massillon's 73 to 0 conquest of Mansfield, the 40th victory against one defeat and a tie for the Tigers since the start of the 1935 campaign, and sending the winners a notch nearer their fifth straight mythical state championship.

Massillon bumps into unbeaten Warren at Warren Friday night, and more than 10,000 are expected to sit in on the fray. Upward of 6,000 tickets had been sold Monday. Warren racked up a 7 to 0 win over Cleveland Rhodes a week ago, but showed greatly improved form Friday as Erie (Pa.) Academy was beaten 19 to 0.

Portsmouth, another of last year's unbeaten, untied squads, extended its winning streak to 17 games by defeating Akron South 19 to 0, with Co-Captain Jim Barker in the starring role. Jim did all the kicking, passed for one touchdown and plunged for another. The Trojans, rated a better team than last year, meet twice-defeated Springfield High this weekend.

18 In Row

Fostoria, winner of 10 straight a year ago, jumped its victory string to 18 with a 19 to 0 win over Bucyrus, while Sandusky, tied once in nine attempts in 1938, sent Gene Balconi on a three-touchdown splurge to beat Elyria 26 to 0, the second win of the year for the Blue Streaks. Elyria lost but one of 10 games last season.

Quarterback Blose, 185-pound star of the Dayton Oakwood club which won seven and tied two a year ago, had a field day aginst Wilmington. Oakwood converted three intercepted passes and a fumble into four touchdowns, all scored by Blose, to win by 26 to 6, although Wilmington had 12 first downs to Oakwood's three.

Another top-notch performance was registered by Russ Reichardt, Marion Harding's star basketball guard. Russ scored a touchdown, intercepted two passes, caught three others and recovered a fumble as Marion beat Delaware Willis 28 to 6. In that same area Galion was beaten for the first time in two years as Phil Ganni and Bill Frye scored two touchdowns each to give Crestline a 20 to 7 verdict.

Van Wert, unbeaten and untied in 10 contests last year, rebounded from last week's 21-0 loss to Montpelier by defeating a good Kenton team 13 to 7. Chuck Campbell's boys showed improvement in every department.

Freak Play

Greenfield McClain's record remained unmarred as "Red" Armstrong's squad took advantage of the year's outstanding freak play to beat Frankfort 14 to 7. Greenfield, winner of seven straight last year, led in the final period by 7-0 when Schuster of Frankfort dashed 81 yards for a touchdown to knot the count. Then Frankfort kicked off the wrong way, and Greenfield "backed" over the goal line for the winning touchdown. Coach Earl Miller of Frankfort "squawked" to such an extent that Athletic Commissioner H. R. Townsend has been called in to decide whether the touchdown should count.

Ironton's Chad Norris, All-Ohio back, counted two touchdowns as the southerners beat Columbus South 19 to 6, giving him 24 of the 33 points his team has registered in two winning starts. Over at Steubenville, Coach Charles (Punque) Cartledge launched his 20th year at the helm with a 20 to 6 win over Lancaster, with straight football. Also along the river East Liverpool beat Cleveland West 25 to 18, but Quarterback Bill Pagel of the losers stole the show with an 85-yard kickoff return for a touchdown.

Marietta, which has rolled up 100 points in two wins, takes on Zanesville Friday as Central Ohio league warfare opens, and the Zanesville outlook isn't so hot. Only once in 18 years, and that by 14-13 in 1925, has Zanesville been able to beat Marietta.

Lima South, 13 to 0 victor over Troy, last week, is tipped as the team to beat in the western sector, along with Dayton Fairmont, which has verdicts over Mt. Vernon and Oxford Stewart. Toledo Libbey, city champ, looks good in the northwest after its 19-0 win over Woodward, as do Waite, 42-12 victor over Chicago Lindblom, and Devilbiss, 22-0 conqueror of Akron Kenmore.

Bargains are plentiful. The ads will tell you where.

BOWLING RESULTS

Posting three wins over the Golden Eagle, the Colonial Finance took over sole possession of first place in the Quaker City league at the Grate Recreation alleys last night.

The Althouse Motors and the Masons, who were tied with the Finance team last week, dropped to second and third place, respectively.

The Motors, despite a splendid 2,709 score, were held to two wins by the Masons. Virgil Willis and E. L. Grate were the big guns in leading the Althouse team to its fine score. Willis turned in a 592 series, including a 256 single game which stands as the highest rolled in any league this season. Grate had a 584 series.

Other matches gave the Columbiana Tyme Club two wins over Floding & Reynard Drugs, the Hotel Lape three wins over the Saxons, the Coy Buicks two victories over Burt Capel Realty and the Salem Motor three wins on a forfeit by the Harris Garage.

Heading the Quaker City league in its campaign this season are Paul (Judy) Myers as president, W. L. Coy as vice president, and R. C. Albright as secretary-treasurer. Albright was re-elected to his position. The other officers are new.

William Hull and Russell Limestahl have been appointed to serve with the officers on a board of arbitration which will settle any disputes which may arise.

In the American league at the Masonic temple alleys, Fitzpatrick Super Service swept three games from the Lease Drugs to move into a tie with the Ohio Edison for first place.

The Ohio Edison remained on top by taking two out of three games from the Electric Furnace. The Masons won three heats from Demings and Fernengel's Colts took two out of three from the Democrats in other American league contests.

R. W. Hawley of Fernengel's and Hal Wilkinson of the Masons led the individual firing, Hawley combining games of 201, 208 and 168 for a 577 series and Wilkinson putting together games of 183, 170 and 223 for a 576 total.

CHIPS DOWN IN NATIONAL LOOP PENNANT RACE

Reds and Cards Clash Today In Opening of Crucial Series

By JOHN FRYE

CINCINNATI, Sept. 26 — Down go the chips and you may know who's the better man when darkness settles over the smoky Mill Creek valley tonight.

Everything is set. The weatherman has promised to hold off on rain despite the agrarian complaints. The field is perfect. The crowd likely 32,000 men, women and children with but a single thought, is getting in line.

All they have to do now is play the games. The first-place Cincinnati Reds, Bill McKechnie's 20-year wonders who have turned this 150-year-old town upside down, meet the second-place St. Louis Cardinals, just 3½ games behind, in a historic double-header that means more to Cincinnati than any World Series.

Need Two Wins

And if those Reds, who just two years ago were on the bottom of the ladder, can pack away both of today's games, it's the end and bring on your Yankees.

There are but five games left for both teams after today and a double win would give the Reds a 5½-game lead, which as mathematics goes, would be insuperable, unconquerable, and enough.

McKechnie, scholarly, gruff, and cagey, is depending on one of baseball's great pitchers for one game today, probably the opener. The fellow is William Henry Walters, known to the profession as Bucky, who has won 27, including the last six straight. He is also depending on a yearling who is no lamb, Gene Thompson, who has an 11-5 record.

Manager Ray Blades of the Cards is calling on Curt Davis and Morton Cooper. Curt has beaten the Reds four out of five times. Mort carried Paul Derringer to a 3-all tie last month.

In view of the fact that the burden of proof is on the Cards, whom the Reds ousted from first place way back in May with four straight victories, the views of certain principals and others are pertinent:

Walters Confident

Walters — "No one else seemed able to beat the Cards. We've done it before and can do it again."

Blades—"I haven't thought much about it. (Wanna bet, Ray?). It's just another game. No, I won't make any predictions. I'd be a fool to do it."

General Manager Warren C. Giles of the Reds—"We won't have any World Series tickets printed up until after the 28th (last day of Card series).

James J. Carroll, St. Louis betting commissioner—"if Bucky Walters works the first game, 5 to 8 on the Reds and 7 to 5 against the Cards; anybody else 5 to 6 and take your choice."

The strange thing about this Card set is that people make more of it than the possibility of the World Series. Around the barber shops and slippery spoon joints you hear, "I'd rather see St. Looie games. They'll be more fun."

BACKS PRESENT PITT PROBLEM

Six Available for Opener As Injuries Hit Ball Carriers

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 26. — Pitt football fortunes, for the early part of the season at least, are very much tied up with the success Coach Charley Bowser has with the present jig-saw puzzle that confronts him in the arrangement of his backfield which must be ready to go by Sept. 30, when the Panthers meet Washington's Huskies at Seattle.

With a record series of minor injuries which have cut one available back after another from the prartice lists, The Pitt coaches have been forced to teach two positions to key men in the backfield, and at present are figuring on only six backs being able to take any active part in the opener.

There is little doubt as to the starting combination. This will have Ben Kish at quarterback, Dick Cassiano and Emil Narick at the halves, and Ernie Bonelli at fullback. But here all order ceases.

With Frank Goodell, Bob Thurbon, Tommy Murphy and Edgar Jones all nursing hurts, there is little relief for the starting backs, unless the boys can handle two positions.

Dick Cassiano at left half has George Kracum to play behind him, but Kracum, a long striding junior, has had practically no game experience. Ben Kish can be spelled by Mike Sekela, another 200-pounder, who got into the waning moments of a few games last fall, and has shown improvement this fall. This is not certain, however, as Sekela's mother is very ill, and he is likely to be called home at any time.

When Kish gets relief at quarterback, he is expected to move over to fullback to spell Ernie Bonelli, stocky little junior, moved to fullback from a third string right half job.

Bonelli, however, will be a halfback, for he must be ready to shift over to fill in for Emil Narick the only back left without relief.

In any case it means double duty for a lot of boys.

And Still Another for Alice

Helen Jacobs, Alice Marble and Holcombe Ward

Add to the list of Alice Marble's tennis triumphs another win in the United States nationals at Forest Hills, N. Y. Alice is receiving her cup from Holcombe Ward, president of the United States Lawn Tennis association as Helen Jacobs, runner-up, looks on.

EX-HIGH STARS TO SEE ACTION

College Ranks Have Been Swelled By Several Ex-Salem Stars

As many Ohio colleges swing into their pigskin campaigns this week, there will be several former Salem High school stars appearing on the various teams.

At Springfield, Coach T. W. Stobbs figures to have his Wittenberg machine on the field with a host of lettermen in the lineup. As many as 13 emblem earners will be available. Among them is Les Julian, a veteran guard, who is expected to hold down a first-string spot.

Julian, as Salem fans will remember, was all-county center when playing here. Among several promising sophomores at Wittenberg is Alden West, who is trying out for a halfback post after a successful freshman season last year.

The Muskingum freshmen reported this week to Coach Grimm. A candidate for quarterback in Charlie Yeager of Salem. He is one of the most seasoned of the candidates, having had four years' football experience in high school.

Also out for the Muskingum freshman team is Frank Fryfogle of Beloit, who played last year for Goshen High in Damascus and is bidding for an end position.

In Columbus, the Bucs have a high-geared sophomore left half in Dick Fisher. He will be remembered for his football, basketball and track prowess when competing for Columbiana. Already the sports writers have dubbed him the "Columbiana Clipper."

ST. LOUIS MUST WIN ALL GAMES FROM TOP TEAM

Cards Need to Sweep Series With Reds To Cop Pennant

By BILL WHITE

The road that is paved with good intentions is no more heavily trafficked today that the road that leads to Cincinnati's Crosley field.

For at the end of that concrete rainbow is the handsomest pot of gold any baseball fan could ask. And on the result of today's double-header may depend the hopes for a National league championship of the radiant Reds or the courageous Cardinals of St. Louis.

Split Not Enough

A split in the four-game series which would parallel the season's record to date of the first and second place clubs—will not be good enough for the Cardinals. They must win all four, and even then the Reds can slip into the World Series. A pair of victories now would give Cincinnati its first pennant in 20 years.

The standings as they go into their four game series:

	W	L	G.B.	G.T.P.
Cincinnati	93	54	...	7
St. Louis	89	57	3½	7

When Bucky Walters, he of the 27-game victory record, and Curt Davis, iron man of the Cardinal staff, lumber to the mound in today's first game, the series that will dwarf the World Series will be a reality and not a schedule maker's fantasy.

Reds Favored

The Reds, three and a half games to the good, playing at home and with Walters on the mound, are favored to win the first game. One betting commissioner has the odds 5 to 8 on Cincinnati and 7 to 5 against the Cardinals, although with any other pitcher working for the Reds, the price is 5 to 6 and take your choice.

So far this season, each team has won seven games from the other both boost current victory strings of seven games, and the Reds have registered 16 victories out of their last 20 starts, while the Cards have captured 18 of 21.

In today's second battle, Gene (Junior) Thomoson and Mort Cooper probably will oppose each other, but the first game, with a Walters-Davis mound duel in prospect, he'ds most of the heart-throbs.

While everbody else waited quietly for the battles of Burgherville to open yesterday, the New York Giants made good use of the day by beating the Boston Bees 6-5, and the Chicago White Sox claimed a 4-3 victory over the St. Louis Browns in the only two games played.

CONN RETAINS BOXING CROWN

Defeats Melio Bettina Second Time After Hard Battle

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 26. — Billy Conn of this town still is light-heavyweight champion of the world, victor over Melio Bettina of Beacon, N. Y., in a savage 15-rounder last night at Forbes field.

Billy, however, still does not look ready to fool with the elders of the tribe, the heavyweights. Though the decision of the two judges and referee last night was unanimous, the Associated Press score sheet gave him the victor by the narrow margin of 8 rounds to 7.

Game as a fighting cock, the handsome young Pittsburgher came back after losing five of the first six chapters to whale the ex-champion all over the ring in the latter stages. In the closing round, which probably decided the issue, Billy gave his swarthy, jumpy opponent a furious beating.

But Billy didn't display that heavyweight punch he's been trying to acquire by swigging a quart of Grade A milk at every meal. A score of times he tagged Bettina right on the whiskers with his right, but Melio never looked like going down.

So Conn's next opponent will be Gus Lesnevich, another light-heavy, in November.

MARIETTA USES AERIAL ATTACK

Pioneers To Depend On Passes To Win In Opening Game

(By Associated Press)

Marietta college served notice to the Ohio conference today to prepare for air raids.

Football Coach Duke Hayes, terming Sophomore Bill McPeek the best passer in the school's history, let it be known that the Pioneers were perfecting an "aerial circus."

Marietta will test its attack against Rio Grande in the opener at home Friday night.

Word from Granville indicates Denison will put a 200-pound line on the field this season. Capt. Monroe Snider, moved from end to fullback, and Halfback Jack Carl sparkled as the Big Red varsity downed the freshmen in a practice game, 33 to 0.

Lost To Mount

John Bottomy, veteran end, probably will be lost to Mount Union for its game at Oxford Saturday against Miami. He was injured in the opener against Albion (Mich.) college.

Ohio Wesleyan also will be without a star in its Friday night game at Youngstown. Don Grigsby, veteran quarterback, injured his ankle in the opener against Alma and won't be able to play the game in his home town.

Coach Ray Ride stressed several new plays as Case prepared for its Saturday start against Otterbein. Halfback Irv Copeland, injured in early practices, returned to action.

WEST TO FACE ALLIANCE BOY IN MAIN BOUT

Dick Scullion Returns To Ring In Semi-Final Scrap

Boxing fights its way back into the city's sport picture tomorrow night with a four-bout amateur card at the Salem Golf club on the Lisbon rd.

Sponsored by the Golf club and promoted by George Julian, the show will feature 16 rounds of leather swinging by outstanding amateur punchers. It will start promptly at 8:30.

The club's regular Wednesday night dinner will be suspended because of the boxing program. Refreshments and luncheon will be served before and after the show.

Meet In Main Bout

Ring enthusiasts are practically certain to see an interesting and lively scrap when Don West, youthful Salem welterweight, battles Roscoe Wilson, tough Alliance Negro fighter, in the five-round feature bout.

West, who is in top shape for the bout, is expected to have about the toughest fight of his ring career. Wilson has gained an excellent reputation in district amateur circles, fighting 12 times and winning seven of the bouts by knockouts. He holds four wins by decisions and has lost only once.

The semi-final attraction will see Dick Scullion of Salem return to the ring after several months' absence due to a broken thumb. Scullion, who became popular with Salem fans last winter for the speed in which he goes after an opponent, will face Al Packard of Canfield, a lad who has been meeting top-ranking fighters of his rank in bouts in Youngstown and Warren.

Stiff Test

Packard, a semi-finalist in K. of C. boxing tournaments last year, figures to give Scullion a stiff test in his return to the ring.

Two preliminary bouts, each scheduled for three rounds, will open the show.

The curtain-raiser will send Bill Kelley of Youngstown against Lavon Price of Canfield. The other prelim will feature "Red" Eddie of Salem and Andy Reno of Alliance.

Eddie, who has been training at the Salem A. C. quarters for several months, will be making his debut in amateur ranks.

Owl Bowling Loop Meeting Planned

A meeting of team captains and bowlers of the Owl league will be held at 8:30 tonight at the Grate Recreation alleys.

Plans for the season will be made and other matters pertaining to league affairs discussed.

HUME SETTING SCORING PACE IN GRID RANKS

Alliance Back Has Made 11 Touchdowns In Two Games

BY FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Sept. 26.—A football coach with a kid who can average a touchdown a game is considered pretty lucky — and that's why Ohio's High school mentors point to Dr. George Wilcoxen of of Alliance as the most fortunate one in their ranks.

For "Doc" has a boy, 17 years old, who has tallied 11 touchdowns in two contests this year. And that total is no "flash in the pan," for the same youngster, Quarterback Hillis Hume, counted 132 points a year ago to finish third among the state's point-getters.

Hume, who started off with a six-touchdown splurge against Minerva, came up with five more Saturday as the Aviators beat Bellevue—a team defeated but once last year—by 47 to 0.

(College coaches note: The word's out that Hume has decided to attend Ohio State).

Noteworthy Events

While Hume's scintillating personal performance made the other gridiron feats seem rather ordinary by comparison, the weekend did bring forth some noteworthy events.

Rating second mention was mighty Massillon's 73 to 0 conquest of Mansfield, the 40th victory against one defeat and a tie for the Tigers since the start of the 1935 campaign, and sending the winners a notch nearer their fifth straight mythical state championship.

Massillon bumps into unbeaten Warren at Warren Friday night, and more than 10,000 are expected to sit in on the fray.. Upward of 6,000 tickets had been sold Monday. Warren racked up a 7 to 0 win over Cleveland Rhodes a week ago, but showed greatly improved form Friday as Erie (Pa.) Academy was beaten 19 to 0.

Portsmouth, another of last year's unbeaten, untied squads, extended its winning streak to 17 games by defeating Akron South 19 to 0, with Co-Captain Jim Barker in the starring role. Jim did all the kicking, passed for one touchdown and plunged for another. The Trojans, rated a better team than last year, meet twice-defeated Springfield High this weekend.

18 In Row

Fostoria, winner of 10 straight a year ago, jumped its victory string to 18 with a 19 to 0 win over Bucyrus, while Sandusky, tied once in nine attempts in 1938, sent Gene Balconi on a three-touchdown splurge to beat Elyria 26 to 0, the second win of the year for the Blue Streaks. Elyria lost but one of 10 games last season.

Quarterback Blose, 185-pound star of the Dayton Oakwood club which won seven and tied two a year ago, hati a field day aginst Wilmington. Oakwood converted three intercepted passes and a fumble into four touchdowns, all scored by Blose, to win by 26 to 6, although Wilmington had 12 first downs to Oakwood's three.

Another top-notch performance was registered by Russ Reichardt, Marion Harding's star basketball guard. Russ scored a touchdown, intercepted two passes, caught three others and recovered a fumble as Marion beat Delaware Wills 28 to 6. In that same area Galion was beaten for the first time in two years as Phil Ganni and Bill Frye scored two touchdowns each to give Crestline a 20 to 7 verdict.

Van Wert, unbeaten and untied in 10 contests last year, rebounded from last week's 21-0 loss to Montpelier by defeating a good Kenton team 13 to 7. Chuck Campbell's boys showed improvement in every department.

Freak Play

Greenfield McClain's record remained unmarred as "Red" Armstrong's squad took advantage of the year's outstanding freak play to beat Frankfort 14 to 7. Greenfield, winner of seven straight last year, led in the final period by 7-0 when Schuster of Frankfort dashed 81 yards for a touchdown to knot the count. Then Frankfort kicked off the wrong way, and Greenfield "backed" over the goal line for the winning touchdown. Coach Earl Miller of Frankfort "squawked" to such an extent that Athletic Commissioner H. R. Townsend has been called in to decide whether the touchdown should count.

Ironton's Chad Norris, All-Ohio back, counted two touchdowns as the southerners beat Columbus South 19 to 6, giving him 24 of the 33 points his team has registered in two winning starts. Over at Steubenville, Coach Charles (Punque) Cartledge launched his 20th year at the helm with a 20 to 6 win over Lancaster, with straight football. Also along the river East Liverpool beat Cleveland West 25 to 18, but Quarterback Bill Pagel of the losers stole the show with an 85-yard kickoff return for a touchdown.

Marietta, which has rolled up 100 points in two wins, takes on Zanesville Friday as Central Ohio league warfare opens, and the Zanesville outlook isn't so hot. Only once in 18 years, and that by 14-13 in 1925, has Zanesville been able to beat Marietta.

Lima South, 13 to 0 victor over Troy, last week, is tipped as the team to beat in the western sector, along with Dayton Fairmont, which has verdicts over Mt. Vernon and Oxford Stewart. Toledo Libbey, city champ, looks good in the northwest after its 19-0 win over Woodward, as do Waite, 42-12 victor over Chicago Lindblom, and Devilbiss, 22-0 conqueror of Akron Kenmore.

Bargains are plentiful. The ads will tell you where.

BOWLING RESULTS

Posting three wins over the Golden Eagle, the Colonial Finance took over sole possession of first place in the Quaker City league at the Grate Recreation alleys last night.

The Althouse Motors and the Masons, who were tied with the Finance team last week, dropped to second and third place, respectively.

The Motors, despite a splendid 2,709 score, were held to two wins by the Masons. Virgil Willis and E. L. Grate were the big guns in leading the Althouse team to its fine score. Willis turned in a 592 series, including a 256 single game which stands as the highest rolled in any league this season. Grate had a 584 series.

Other matches gave the Columbiana Tyme Club two wins over Floding & Reynard Drugs, the Hotel Lape three wins over the Saxons, the Coy Buicks two victories over Burt Capel Realty and the Salem Motor three wins on a forfeit by the Harris Garage.

Heading the Quaker City league in its campaign this season are Paul (Judy) Myers as president, W. L. Coy as vice president, and R. C. Albright as secretary-treasurer. Albright was re-elected to his position. The other officers are new.

William Hull and Russell Limestahl have been appointed to serve with the officers on a board of arbitration which will settle any disputes which may arise.

In the American league at the Masonic temple alleys, Fitzpatrick Super Service swept three games from the Lease Drugs to move into a tie with the Ohio Edison for first place.

The Ohio Edison remained on top by taking two out of three games from the Electric Furnace. The Masons won three heats from Demings and Fernengel's Colts took two out of three from the Democrats in other American league contests.

R. W. Hawley of Fernengel's and Hal Wilkinson of the Masons led the individual firing, Hawley combining games of 201, 208 and 168 for a 577 series and Wilkinson putting together games of 183, 170 and 223 for a 576 total.

CHIPS DOWN IN NATIONAL LOOP PENNANT RACE

Reds and Cards Clash Today In Opening of Crucial Series

By JOHN FRYE

CINCINNATI, Sept. 26 — Down go the chips and you may know who's the better man when darkness settles over the smoky Mill Creek valley tonight.

Everything is set. The weatherman has promised to hold off on rain despite the agrarian complaints. The field is perfect. The crowd likely 32,000 men, women and children with but a single thought, is getting in line.

All they have to do now is play the games. The first-place Cincinnati Reds, Bill McKechnie's 20-year wonders who have turned this 150-year-old town upside down, meet the second-place St. Louis Cardinals, just 3½ games behind, in a historic double-header that means more to Cincinnati than any World Series.

Need Two Wins

And if those Reds, who just two years ago were on the bottom of the ladder, can pack away both of today's games, it's the end and bring on your Yankees.

There are but five games left for both teams after today and a double win would give the Reds a 5½-game lead, which as mathematics goes, would be insuperable, unconquerable, and enough.

McKechnie, scholarly, gruff, and cagey, is depending on one of baseball's great pitchers for one game today, probably the opener. The fellow is William Henry Walters, known to the profession as Bucky, who has won 27, including the last six straight. He is also depending on a yearling who is no lamb, Gene Thompson, who has an 11-5 record.

Manager Ray Blades of the Cards is calling on Curt Davis and Morton Cooper. Curt has beaten the Reds four out of five times. Mort carried Paul Derringer to a 3-all tie last month.

In view of the fact that the burden of proof is on the Cards, whom the Reds ousted from first place 'way back in May with four straight victories, the views of certain principals and others are pertinent:

Walters Confident

Walters — "No one else seemed able to beat the Cards. We've done it before and can do it again."

Blades—"I haven't thought much about it. (Wanna bet, Ray?). It's just another game. No, I won't make any predictions. I'd be a fool to do it."

General Manager Warren C. Giles of the Reds—"We won't have any World Series tickets printed up until after the 28th (last day of Card series).

James J. Carroll, St. Louis betting commissioner—"if Bucky Walters works the first game, 5 to 8 on the Reds and 7 to 5 against the Cards; anybody else 5 to 6 and take your choice."

The strange thing about this Card set is that people make more of it than the possibility of the World Series. Around the barber shops and slippery spoon joints you hear, "I'd rather see St. Looie games. They'll be more fun."

BACKS PRESENT PITT PROBLEM

Six Available for Opener As Injuries Hit Ball Carriers

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 26. — Pitt football fortunes, for the early part of the season at least ,are very much tied up with the success Coach Charley Bowser has with the present jig-saw puzzle that confronts him in the arrangement of his backfield which must be ready to go by Sept. 30, when the Panthers meet Washington's Huskies at Seattle.

With a record series of minor injuries which have cut one available back after another from the prartice lists, The Pitt coaches have been forced to teach two positions to key men in the backfield, and at present are figuring on only six backs being able to take any active part in the opener.

There is little doubt as to the starting combination. This will have Ben Kish at quarterback, Dick Cassiano and Emil Narick at the halves, and Ernie Bonelli at fullback. But here all order ceases.

With Frank Goodell, Bob Thurbon,, Tommy Murphy and Edgar Jones all nursing hurts, there is little relief for the starting backs, unless the boys can handle two positions.

Dick Cassiano at left half has George Kracum to play behind him, but Kracum, a long striding junior, has had practically no game experience. Ben Kish can be spelled by Mike Sekela another 200-pounder, who got into the waning moments of a few games last fall, and has shown improvement this fall. This is not certain, however, as Sekela's mother is very ill, and he is likely to be called home at any time.

When Kish gets relief at quarterback, he is expected to move over to fullback to spell Ernie Bonelli, stocky little junior, moved to fullback from a third string right half job.

Bonelli, however, will be a halfback, for he must be ready to shift over to fill in for Emil Narick the only back left without relief.

In any case it means double duty for a lot of boys.

And Still Another for Alice

Helen Jacobs, Alice Marble and Holcombe Ward

Add to the list of Alice Marble's tennis triumphs another win in the United States nationals at Forest Hills, N. Y. Alice is receiving her cup from Holcombe Ward, president of the United States Lawn Tennis association as Helen Jacobs, runner-up, looks on.

EX-HIGH STARS TO SEE ACTION

College Ranks Have Been Swelled By Several Ex-Salem Stars

As many Ohio colleges swing into their pigskin campaigns this week, there will be several former Salem High school stars appearing on the various teams.

At Springfield, Coach T. W. Stobbs figures to have his Wittenberg machine on the field with a host of lettermen in the lineup. As many as 13 emblem earners will be available. Among them is Les Julian, a veteran guard, who is expected to hold down a first-string spot.

Julian, as Salem fans will remember, was all-county center when playing here. Among several promising sophomores at Wittenberg is Alden West, who is trying out for a halfback post after a successful freshman season last year.

The Muskingum freshmen reported this week to Coach Grimm. A candidate for quarterback in Charlie Yeager of Salem. He is one of the most seasoned of the candidates, having had four years' football experience in high school.

Also out for the Muskingum freshman team is Frank Fryfogle of Beloit, who played last year for Goshen High in Damascus and is bidding for an end position.

In Columbus, the Bucs have a high-geared sophomore left half in Dick Fisher. He will be remembered for his football, basketball and track prowess when competing for Columbiana. Already the sports writers have dubbed him the "Columbiana Clipper."

ST. LOUIS MUST WIN ALL GAMES FROM TOP TEAM

Cards Need to Sweep Series With Reds To Cop Pennant

By BILL WHITE

The road that is paved with good intentions is no more heavily trafficked today that the road that leads to Cincinnati's Crosley field.

For at the end of that concrete rainbow is the handsomest pot of gold any baseball fan could ask. And on the result of today's double-header may depend the hopes for a National league championship of the radiant Reds or the courag-Cardinals of St. Louis.

Split Not Enough

A split in the four-game series which would parallel the season's record to date of the first and second place clubs—will not be good enough for the Cardinals. They must win all four, and even then the Reds can slip into the World Series. A pair of victories now would give Cincinnati its first pennant in 20 years.

The standings as they go into their four game series:

	W	L	G.B.	G.T.P.
Cincinnati	93	54	...	7
St. Louis	89	57	3½	7

When Bucky Walters, he of the 27-game victory record, and Curt Davis, iron man of the Cardinal staff, lumber to the mound in today's first ame, the series that will dwarf the World Series will be a reality and not a schedule maker's fantasy.

Reds Favored

The Reds, three and a half games to the good, playing at home and with Walters on the mound, are favored to win the first game. One betting commissioner has the odds 5 to 8 on Cincinnati and 7 to 5 against the Cardinals, although with any other pitcher working for the Reds, the price is 5 to 6 and take your choice.

So far this season, each team has won seven games from the other, both boost current victory strings of seven games, and the Reds have registered 16 victories out of their last 20 starts, while the Cards have captured 18 of 21.

In today's second battle, Gene (Junior) Thomnson and Mort Cooper probably will oppose each other, but the first game, with a Walters-Davis mound duel in prospect, holds most of the heart-throbs.

While everbody else waited quietly for the batt'es of Burgherville to open yesterday, the New York Giants made good use of the day by beating the Boston Bees, 6-5, and the Chicago White Sox claimed a 4-3 victory over the St. Louis Browns in the only two games played.

CONN RETAINS BOXING CROWN

Defeats Melio Bettina Second Time After Hard Battle

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 26. — Billy Conn of this town still is light-heavyweight champion of the world, victor over Melio Bettina of Beacon, N. Y., in a savage 15-rounder last night at Forbes field.

Billy, however, still does not look ready to fool with the elders of the tribe, the heavyweights. Though the decision of the two judges and referee last night was unanimous, the Associated Press score sheet gave him the victor by the narrow margin of 8 rodnds to 7.

Game as a fighting cock, the handsome young Pittsburgher came back after losing five of the first six chapters to whale the ex-champion all over the ring in the latter stages. In the closing round, which probably decided the issue, Billy gave his swarthy, jumpy opponent a furious beating.

But Billy didn't display that heavyweight punch he's been trying to acquire by swigging a quart of Grade A milk at every meal. A score of times he tagged Bettina right on the whiskers with his right, but Melio never looked like going down.

So Conn's next opponent will be Gus Lesnevich, another light-heavy, in November.

MARIETTA USES AERIAL ATTACK

Pioneers To Depend On Passes To Win In Opening Game

(By Associated Press)

Marietta college served notice to the Ohio conference today to prepare for air raids.

Football Coach Duke Hayes, terming Sophomore Bill McPeek the best passer in the school's history, let it be known that the Pioneers were perfecting an "aerial circus."

Marietta will test its attack against Rio Grande in the opener at home Friday night.

Word from Granville indicates Denison will put a 200-pound line on the field this season. Capt. Monroe Snider, moved from end to fullback, and Halfback Jack Carl sparkled as the Big Red varsity downed the freshmen in a practice game, 33 to 0.

Lost To Mount

John Bottomy , veteran end, probably will be lost to Mount Union for its game at Oxford Saturday against Miami. He was injured in the opener against Albion (Mich.) college.

Ohio Wesleyan also will be without a star in its Friday night game at Youngstown. Don Grigsby, veteran quarterback, injured his ankle in the opener against Alma and won't be able to play the game in his home town.

Coach Ray Ride stressed several new plays as Case prepared for its Saturday start against Otterbein. Halfback Irv Copeland, injured in early practices, returned to action.

WEST TO FACE ALLIANCE BOY IN MAIN BOUT

Dick Scullion Returns To Ring In Semi-Final Scrap

Boxing fights its way back into the city's sport picture tomorrow night with a four-bout amateur card at the Salem Golf club on the Lisbon rd.

Sponsored by the Golf club and promoted by George Julian, the show will feature 16 rounds of leather swinging by outstanding amateur punchers. It will start promptly at 8:30.

The club's regular Wednesday night dinner will be suspended because of the boxing program. Refreshments and luncheon will be served before and after the show.

Meet In Main Bout

Ring enthusiasts are practically certain to see an interesting and lively scrap when Don West, youthful Salem welterweight, battles Roscoe Wilson, tough Alliance Negro fighter, in the five-round feature bout.

West, who is in top shape for the bout, is expected to have about the toughest fight of his ring career. Wilson has gained an excellent reputation in district amateur circles, fighting 12 times and winning seven of the bouts by knockouts. He holds four wins by decisions and has lost only once.

The semi-final attraction will see Dick Scullion of Salem return to the ring after several months' absence due to a broken thumb. Scullion, who became popular with Salem fans last winter for the speed in which he goes after an opponent, will face Al Packard of Canfield, a lad who has been meeting top-ranking fighters of his rank in bouts in Youngstown and Warren.

Stiff Test

Packard, a semi-finalist in K. of C. boxing tournaments last year, figures to give Scullion a stiff test in his return to the ring.

Two preliminary bouts, each scheduled for three rounds, will open the show.

The curtain-raiser will send Bill Kelley of Youngstown against Lavon Price of Canfield. The other prelim will feature "Red" Eddie of Salem and Andy Reno of Alliance.

Eddie, who has been training at the Salem A. C. quarters for several months, will be making his debut in amateur ranks.

Owl Bowling Loop Meeting Planned

A meeting of team captains and bowlers of the Owl league will be held at 8:30 tonight at the Grate Recreation alleys.

Plans for the season will be made and other matters pertaining to league affairs discussed.

"Tip" Backfires

AKRON, Sept. 26.—A telephoned "tip" on a fruit stand holdup backfired, and today the tipster was in police custody.

Police said the caller who told them he witnessed the $7 robbery of Carl Stayshich's stand later was questioned and confessed the holdup.

REFERENDUM IN COURTS AGAIN

Seek to Test Governor's Civil Service Board Appointment

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Sept. 26.—The battered referendum on the Bricker administration's new civil service act, engulfed in a maze of legal maneuverings, bounced back into court today for the sixth time in nine days.

The latest hauling of the issue before the bench was for a hearing by the supreme court on a friendly suit in which Att'y. Gen. Thomas J. Herbert sought to test Gov. John W. Bricker's appointment of Herbert W. Mitchell as a third member of the civil service commission.

The hearing marked the end of the summer recess of the supreme court.

A ruling of his action, the attorney general said, would have the effect of clarifying the status of referendum petitions filed with Secretary of State Earl Griffith Sept. 5 and since subjected to considerable jostling.

Griffith rejected the petitions in face of an injunction issued by Common Pleas Judge Dana F. Reynolds, then he was ordered by court mandate to forward them to county election boards for a check on validity of signatures. The court of appeals stayed the order at the last minute yesterday and set a hearing for Thursday.

Griffith's rejection of the petitions, which were sponsored by the state Democratic organization in an attempt to put the act on the November ballot, led Governor Bricker to declare the new civil service law operative and appoint Mitchell to a third membership on the civil service commission as provided in the revised statute.

Too Considerate, Sheriff Laments

PAINESVILLE, Sept. 26.—Sheriff James Moloney was convinced today he was too considerate of a young prisoner.

A 14-year-old boy from Houston, Mo., arrested in charges of stealing $10 from a filling station, escaped from the third floor of Lake County jail by climbing through a skylight and swinging 25 feet to the ground by vines on the building.

"I put the lad on the third floor so he would not be with the other prisoners," said the sheriff, "and that's what I get."

Withdraw Deputies

LISBON, Sept. 26.—Special deputies who have been on duty at the plant of the strike-bound Summitville Face Brick Co., were withdrawn following a meeting of plant officials and strikers' representatives yesterday with Judge W. F. Lones.

Girl Will Testify In Florida Trial

WEST PALM BEACH, FLA., Sept. 26.—Jean Bolton, one of two movie-struck school girls who left Miami with a self-styled talent scout, faced the ordeal today of telling again of the automobile ride from which her companion never returned alive.

The prosecution, which charges Charles Jefferson bludgeoned 17-year-old Frances Dunn to death, indicated Miss Bolton would testify concerning the three days intervening between the girls' departure and the finding of Miss Dunn's body Aug. 10.

State Attorney Phil O'Connell read to the jury yesterday two statements which quoted Jefferson as admitting he lured the girls on the trip with promises of theatrical fame, raped Miss Dunn on a lonely beach road at Boca Raton, and then killed her with a hammer.

P.-T. A. In Lisbon Greets Teachers

LISBON, Sept. 26—New teachers were introduced by H. C. Leonard, superintendent of Lisbon schools, at a meeting of the Parent-Teachers association at the High school building last night.

A short business session was conducted by Mrs. Lynn Riddle, president, who announced her committees for the year. Lunch was served.

western front was aimed at breaking up German troop concentrations reported near the Swiss border.

Reports reaching Switzerland said heavy losses had been sustained by both France and Germany when French troops repulsed a German counter-attack attempting to relieve pressure on key forts near Zweibruecken.

Drop More Leaflets

Britain today emphasized that a major part of her war strategy is in attempting to convince the German people they cannot win the war.

Officials drew attention to a Sunday flight of the Royal Air force over Germany where more propaganda leaflets were dumped, warning Germans that many of their vital war supply reserves "are almost gone" as a result of British-French maritime activity.

Berlin dispatches indicated German strategy still aimed at trying to woo France from her alliance with Britain. There were unconfirmed reports that French prisoners in the reich might be released as a friendly gesture.

Scandinavians were upset by the sinking of two Swedish and two Finnish vessels by German submarines in less than a week. Three of the ships carried wood pulp bound for England.

Danish sources expected Sweden would use her valuable iron ore supplies, which Germany needs, as a weapon for reaching some agreement with the reich about sea trading.

Estonia's position in the shifting European scene attracted attention when her foreign minister, Karl Selter, returned suddenly from Moscow where he had gone ostensibly to discuss a trade agreement.

NAB CONVICTS AFTER ESCAPE

Michigan Warden, Officials Taken from Prison As Hostages

(By Associated Press)

MARQUETTE, Mich., Sept. 26.—Recaptured after a desperate bid for freedom in which they abducted and held as hostages the warden and three other officials of the northern Michigan branch prison, four long-term convicts faced solitary confinement today.

Less than five hours after they had walked into a meeting of the state parole board and forced the officials to accompany them, their wild flight ended when their 10-year-old car overturned at high speed on a curve near Menominee, Mich. State police and sheriff's depties, hot in pursuit, surrounded them before they could recover from the shock of the crash.

Bruised and shaken, but otherwise unharmed by their experience were Warden Marvin L. Coon and Gerald Bush, parole board member. A. Ross Pascoe, chairman of the board, leaped from the speeding car before it overturned and escaped injury, while Deputy Warden William Newcome was released earlier by his captors in a vain effort to stall off pursuit.

The prisoners were returned immediately to the scene of their break. They were Josph M. Mushro, 24, of Dtroit and Thomas McCarthy, 27, of Memphis, Tenn., both serving life sentences for a poolroom holdup—murder at Hamtramck, Mich.; Ralph Stearns, 37, of Daggett, Mich., serving life for robbery armed, and John Thompson, 30, alias Eugene Freeman, serving 20 to 30 years for a holdup.

Mingling with prisoners who were scheduled for appearance before the parole board, the four men entered a meeting in the isolated classification building of the prison early in the afternoon after slugging a guard. One carried what appeared to be an automatic pistol.

They forced Warden Coon to order a car sent around and to instruct guards not to hinder its passage through the prison gates. Guards stood by helplessly as the car sped away, afraid to open fire lest the convicts carry out their threat to kill their hostages.

California Storm Toll Placed at 50

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 26. — A death toll of at least 50 and property damage in excess of $1,000,000 was counted by Southern California today as the tropical storm which brought the death and destruction moderated.

Still unaccounted for were 15 ocean-going craft, manned principally by amateur mariners, which put to sea before the storm broke Sunday afternoon. More than a score of persons were believed aboard the vessels.

Ten bodies have been recovered from the ocean, which claimed most of the victims in wrecks of pleasure and fishing craft. Missing and given up for drowned in similar mishaps were 33 persons.

Mrs. West and Miss Richards were captured in Dallas, Tex.

Miss Brawdy told the Akron detective that she left Mrs. West and Miss Richards in Texas and that she had met the two men with her here in Canton.

Held with Miss Brawdy here were Raymond Myers, 29, of Canton and Bert King, of Pittsburgh, who said they would waive extradition to Virginia. Patrolman M. L. Kennedy said they confessed a $60 holdup at Winchester Sept. 22.

Had Stolen Car

The men and Miss Brawdy were taken into custody when Kennedy recognized their automobile as that used in the Winchester robbery. Police Chief W. E. Jackson said the car was stolen in Canton.

The Akron detectives said Miss Brawdy admitted taking part in filling station robberies at Kenton, Cambridge and Upper Sandusky.

They quoted her as saying that she left Texas only a few days before Mrs. West and Miss Richards were captured.

Dying her brown hair black, Miss Brawdy said she hitchhiked to Massillon, O., where she worked in a beer parlor for some time, later going to Canton and New York state.

western front was aimed at breaking up German troop concentrations reported near the Swiss border.

Reports reaching Switzerland said heavy losses had been sustained by both France and Germany when French troops repulsed a German counter-attack attempting to relieve pressure on key forts near Zweibruecken.

Drop More Leaflets

Britain today emphasized that a major part of her war strategy is in attempting to convince the German people they cannot win the war.

Officials drew attention to a Sunday flight of the Royal Air force over Germany where more propaganda leaflets were dumped, warning Germans that many of their vital war supply reserves "are almost gone" as a result of British-French maritime activity.

Berlin dispatches indicated German strategy still aimed at trying to woo France from her alliance with Britain. There were unconfirmed reports that French prisoners in the reich might be released as a friendly gesture.

Scandinavians were upset by the sinking of two Swedish and two Finnish vessels by German submarines in less than a week. Three of the ships carried wood pulp bound for England.

Danish sources expected Sweden would use her valuable iron ore supplies, which Germany needs, as a weapon for reaching some agreement with the reich about sea trading.

Estonia's position in the shifting European scene attracted attention when her foreign minister, Karl Selter, returned suddenly from Moscow where he had gone ostensibly to discuss a trade agreement.

NAB CONVICTS AFTER ESCAPE

Michigan Warden, Officials Taken from Prison As Hostages

(By Associated Press)

MARQUETTE, Mich., Sept. 26.—Recaptured after a desperate bid for freedom in which they abducted and held as hostages the warden and three other officials of the northern Michigan branch prison, four long-term convicts faced solitary confinement today.

Less than five hours after they had walked into a meeting of the state parole board and forced the officials to accompany them, their wild flight ended when their 10-year-old car overturned at high speed on a curve near Menominee, Mich. State police and sheriff's depties, hot in pursuit, surrounded them before they could recover from the shock of the crash.

Bruised and shaken, but otherwise unharmed by their experience were Warden Marvin L. Coon and Gerald Bush, parole board member. A. Ross Pascoe, chairman of the board, leaped from the speeding car before it overturned and escaped injury, while Deputy Warden William Newcome was released earlier by his captors in a vain effort to stall off pursuit.

The prisoners were returned immediately to the scene of their break. They were Josph M. Mushro, 24, of Dtroit and Thomas McCarthy, 27, of Memphis, Tenn., both serving life sentences for a poolroom holdup—murder at Hamtramck, Mich.; Ralph Stearns, 37, of Daggett, Mich., serving life for robbery armed, and John Thompson, 30, alias Eugene Freeman, serving 20 to 30 years for a holdup.

Mingling with prisoners who were scheduled for appearance before the parole board, the four men entered a meeting in the isolated classification building of the prison early in the afternoon after slugging a guard. One carried what appeared to be an automatic pistol.

They forced Warden Coon to order a car sent around and to instruct guards not to hinder its passage through the prison gates. Guards stood by helplessly as the car sped away, afraid to open fire lest the convicts carry out their threat to kill their hostages.

California Storm Toll Placed at 50

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 26. — A death toll of at least 50 and property damage in excess of $1,000,000 was counted by Southern California today as the tropical storm which brought the death and destruction moderated.

Still unaccounted for were 15 ocean-going craft, manned principally by amateur mariners, which put to sea before the storm broke Sunday afternoon. More than a score of persons were believed aboard the vessels.

Ten bodies have been recovered from the ocean, which claimed most of the victims in wrecks of pleasure and fishing craft. Missing and given up for drowned in similar mishaps were 33 persons.

WOMAN, THREE MEN ARRESTED

Mrs. West and Miss Richards were captured in Dallas, Tex.

Miss Brawdy told the Akron detective that she left Mrs. West and Miss Richards in Texas and that she had met the two men with her here in Canton.

Held with Miss Brawdy here were Raymond Myers, 29, of Canton and Bert King, of Pittsburgh, who said they would waive extradition to Virginia. Patrolman M. L. Kennedy said they confessed a $60 holdup at Winchester Sept. 22.

Had Stolen Car

The men and Miss Brawdy were taken into custody when Kennedy recognized their automobile as that used in the Winchester robbery. Police Chief W. E. Jackson said the car was stolen in Canton.

The Akron detectives said Miss Brawdy admitted taking part in filling station robberies at Kenton, Cambridge and Upper Sandusky.

They quoted her as saying that she left Texas only a few days before Mrs. West and Miss Richards were captured.

Dying her brown hair black, Miss Brawdy said she hitchhiked to Massillon, O., where she worked in a beer parlor for some time, later going to Canton and New York state.
